To specify, regarding the data presented in question 8, the point on "Annual public budget allocated to training and education" is presents the budget for the Academy for training of judges and public prosecutors for 2007 unlike other points in the question were the budget for 2006 are noted due to the fact this institution started to work in the middle of 2006 and for the reference year has not full budget for whole year. Therefore we think that presented data for 2007 just for this point are suitable.

To clarify with regard to the answer for question 13 - "Total annual approved public budget allocated to legal aid", data presented include the budget for legal aid as well as the budget for expert witnesses, due to the reason that we do not have exact data just for legal aid.

Surveys for measuring public trust and satisfaction with the services delivered by the judiciary system are mainly conducted by NGO's, foreign donors through national projects and International organisations. Namely, USAID conducted comprehensive research in that field within the pilot courts in the Republic of Macedonia.

The name of the Project was: "Satisfaction of users through perception of fairness in the pilot courts initially and ultimately nation wide improves as measured though opinion surveys", with the purpose to obtain citizens feedback and respond immediately by identifying ways to improve the services provided by the court.

As indicators were used 10 questions:

1. Getting to the courthouse was easy
2. Finding where I need to go in the courthouse was easy and convenient.

3. I felt safe in the courthouse.
4. It was easy getting the information I needed when I came to the courthouse.
5. Court personnel treated me with courtesy and respect.
6. The judge hearing my case listened to me and was courteous, respectful and fair.
7. I understand the instructions of the court and what I need to do next.
8. The case or other business I had with the court was handled in a time promptly and in an efficient manner.
9. I was treated equally - my ethnic background, gender, economic status, or age made no difference in how I was treated by the court.
10. Overall, I think the court performed effectively

The Project was conducted semiannually according to the following timetable:

- October, 2003 in six pilot courts,
- May, 2004 in four pilot courts and by end of June in all seven pilot courts,
- November, 2004 in two courts and by end of March, 2005 in all ten pilot courts,
- June, 2005 in the first seven pilot courts
- November, 2005 in all ten pilot courts
- May, 2006, all ten pilot courts
- November, 2006 in all ten pilot courts
- May, 2007

It was conducted by:

Conducted by: Court employees

- Court Coordinators
- Intake employees
- legal interns for each pilot court as volunteers

First Public User Satisfaction Survey conducted in the original seven pilot courts shows a baseline of 55, 85% overall, of public user satisfaction in nine areas of public perception in the following Macedonian Basic Courts: Prilep, Bitola, Stip, Kocani, K. Palanka and Tetovo Basic Court. The baseline data of 55, 85% excludes the overall user satisfaction of the courts performance in the seventh pilot court, Basic Court Struga. This Macedonian basic court was not able to conduct the Public User Satisfaction Survey in the period of October/November 2003 due to ongoing courthouse construction.

First Public User Satisfaction Survey conducted in the three new pilot courts shows a baseline of 53,71% overall, of public user satisfaction in nine areas of public perception in the following Macedonian basic courts: Skopje II-Skopje, Ohrid and Gostivar.

For the 42 months period of October 2003 – June 2007 the detailed results, the summary of interim indicator progress is shown down below. The percentage on overall citizens feedback on court performance shows an increase of 21,87% user satisfaction and has reached a level of 78% for the original seven Macedonian pilot courts during the eight Public User Satisfaction Survey conducted in June, 2007.

| Tribunaux: spécialisés de 1ère instance (entités juridiques)     | 3            |
| Tous les tribunaux (implantations géographiques)                 | 33           |

46) Veuillez préciser les différentes sphères de spécialisation (et, si possible, le nombre de tribunaux concernés)

In the Republic of Macedonia there are 27 basic courts. Two of them are specialised in criminal and civil matters. Namely, Basic Court Skopje 1 is a criminal court, while Basic Court Skopje 2 is a civil court. In the Republic of Macedonia there are also 4 appellate courts, Administrative court and the Supreme Court of the Republic of Macedonia. The main characteristic of our court system is specialisation within the courts (specialised departments).

The Supreme Court - the highest court in the country, which ensures uniform application of the laws by the courts. It is competent for deciding in second instance on its Chambers' rulings pursuant to law, deciding in third and final instance upon appeals on appellate courts' rulings, deciding in Administrative Court's rulings brought in second instances in cases provided for in law, judging upon extra-legal remedies against final court judgments and rulings of its Chambers pursuant to law, judging upon conflicts of competence between basic courts falling under jurisdiction of different appellate courts, between appellate courts and basic courts and between different appellate courts and deciding upon handing over the territorial jurisdiction from one court to another, deciding upon requests submitted by the parties and other actors in the procedure in breach of the law concerning reasonable timescale of lawsuits, in procedure before the courts provided for in law.

Appellate Courts – are second instance courts. They are competent to decide upon appeals on rulings of basic courts. Besides this primary prerogative, appellate courts are empowered to decide in conflicts of competence between basic courts falling under their jurisdiction and to perform other duties determined by law. They are established in the area of several basic courts (at the moment there are 4 such courts: Skopje, Stip, Bitola and Gostivar).

Basic Courts are established for one or more municipalities for an area determined by Law. There are 27 basic courts in the Republic of Macedonia. According to the actual jurisdiction, they are empowered to decide upon first instance and are established as courts with basic and extended jurisdiction. Within the frame of the basic courts with extended jurisdiction, specialised court departments are set up acting upon certain types of cases. Basic courts may establish court units. Five basic courts have established specialised judicial units competent for cases in the field of organised crime. The Basic Court Skopje I has been determined as solely criminal court, whereas the Basic Court Skopje II solely as civil court.

Administrative Court – for the purpose of ensuring court protection of the rights and legal interests of natural and legal persons and for ensuring legality, the Administrative Court, with regard to administrative disputes shall decide upon the legality of the acts of state administrative bodies, the Government, other state bodies, municipalities and the City of Skopje, organisations determined by law and legal and other persons in their performance of public authorisation (holders of public positions), who decide upon the rights and responsibilities of certain administrative affairs as well as on acts adopted in misdemeanour procedure.

Si oui, veuillez spécifier :

In last period we have made reform of the organisational structure and competences of the courts. Namely, we introduced new Administrative Court and new Appellate Court in Gostivar. For the accused with the court summons is also enclosed a copy of the private charge.

the parties.

(4) If the individual judge considers that collecting evidence is not important and there are no other reasons for a special assignment of a trial, he may immediately open the trial and upon the presented evidence before the court, bring a decision on a private charge. Of this will particularly be warned the private prosecutor and the accused at the delivery of the summons.

(5) If the private prosecutor does not reply to the summons under paragraph 1 of this Article is valid and applicable the provision of Article 54 of this Code.

(6) In case the accused does not attend the trial and if the judge decides to open the trial, the provision of Article 428, paragraph 4 of this Code will be applied.

Explanation

Regarding the point 1. Civil (and commercial) litigious cases, we have also available separate data for civil and commercial cases. Namely in 2006 situation in Macedonian courts regarding civil cases is as following: Pending cases on 1 January 2006-27002 cases, Incoming cases - 36802, Decisions - 37384, Pending cases on 31 December 2006 - 26420. Commercial cases: Pending cases on 1 January 2006-6011 cases, Incoming cases - 9014, Decisions - 8074, Pending cases on 31 December 2006 - 6951. In mentioned point 1 of table above are presented total nmber of presented civil + commercial cases.

In point 7 of the Table "Other" also are included bankruptcy cases and other civil cases.

In point 8 "Criminal cases" there are presented data for adult + juveniles criminal cases

Regarding the point 3 - "Enforcement cases" we would like to clarify that there are presented enforcement cases before courts. Namely in 2006 enforcement agents started to work according to new Law on execution. Therefore in reference year we have mixed system of enforcement of civil verdicts (courts and enforcement agents).

In this table we do not present administrative disputes because that time Supreme court had the competence for sloving these kind of cases. In 2007 new Administrative court was established and all administrative disputes were transferred to this new court.

The Law on Execution of Sanctions adopted in December 2005 regulates the execution of sanctions for crimes and misdemeanours such as penalties, alternative measures, security measures and educational measures. The reform of the penitentiary system is approached for the purpose of improvement of the conditions in the penitentiary institutions and more efficient execution of sanctions in compliance with the international standards. The activities concerning the execution of sanctions are in the competence of the Directorate for Execution of Sanctions, which has the capacity of a legal person. This Law provides for establishment of another penitentiary institution of closed and semi-open type, in order to ease the burden of the detention and prison capacity as well as creation of organisational and functional conditions for establishment of a hospital for treatment of imprisoned population. The Law provides legal basis for the training Centre for the employees of the penitentiary institutions, necessitating provision of financial and staffing conditions for its permanent functioning. The Law provides for practical implementation of the alternative measures prescribed in the Criminal Code (cooperation with other state bodies has been ensured with the establishment of the Department for enforcement of alternative measures within the Directorate for Execution of Sanctions).

The Penitentiary system in the Republic of Macedonia is positioned in a horizontal and vertical connection, as a sole and closed system of penitentiary and correctional institutions. In this system, the execution of sanctions is in competence of the Directorate for Execution of Sanctions, with the capacity of a legal person, managed by a Director. The sentence of imprisonment and the educational - correctional measure remitting to educational-correctional institution is done in penitentiary-correctional or educational-correctional institutions, which have the capacity of a legal person. The penitentiary and correctional institution may be penitentiary-correctional institution homes or prisons, and according to the level of security, they are divided into penitentiary and correctional institution of open, semi-open and closed type. #### 10. 1. 1. Réformes

170) Pouvez-vous fournir des informations relatives au débat actuel dans votre pays en ce qui concerne le fonctionnement de la justice ? Des réformes sont-elles envisagées ? (par exemple modification de la législation, modification dans la structure judiciaire, programme d'innovation, etc. ...) Si oui, veuillez préciser.

The Republic of Macedonia has made significant progress in the implementation of the judicial reform defined by the Strategy and the Action Plan for its implementation in November 2004 followed by the Constitutional amendments (December 2005) as well as the adoption of the key reform laws (2006), with consensus achieved by the political entities. The legal and institutional framework has been completed. The key objective – strengthening the independence of judiciary has been achieved.

Upcoming activities in strengthening the independence of judiciary and enhancement of the execution of judicial function will be directed towards the implementation of the legal arrangements ensuring not only independence but also accountability in the execution of judicial function, as well as quality enhancement and evaluation as a basis for promotion. The established Academy for Training of Judges and Prosecutors, which commenced its operation following the provision of all conditions required (legal, material and human resources), provides additional guarantee for the promotion and specialisation of judiciary.

It is envisaged to strengthen the competences of the Public Prosecutor in the pre-investigative and investigative procedure and in the measures taken for detection and prosecution of offenders in the area of organised crime and corruption.

Strengthening the confidence in judiciary is continuously ongoing simultaneously with the achievement of the reform objectives as well as with the enhancement of judicial transparency.

Moreover, key commitment is the gradual increase of the Judicial Budget, which is directly conditioned by the results from the measures envisaged for improving the efficiency of the judiciary.

The amendments to the criminal and civil court proceedings as well as the specialisation of judiciary contribute to the improvement of its efficiency. In addition, with the commencement of the established Institute of Enforcement Agents in the course of 2006, the problem of the delay in the execution of civil cases has been addressed to great extent, which is significantly reduced and it is expected that this trend will continue. The current reforms in the misdemeanour system – harmonisation of the special laws providing for misdemeanours referred to in the Law adopted in 2006, are also directed towards increasing the efficiency of the judiciary. The legislative amendments are based on the 2005 Constitutional amendments which provide for state administrative body or organisation and other body performing public authorisations, to pronounce fines for particular misdemeanours determined under law, whereupon court protection is guaranteed against the decisions delivered by these bodies through newly-established administrative court. According to Article 154 of the Law on Misdemeanours, it is the obligation of state authorities within 12 months from the date of entering into force of this Law, to harmonise the laws stipulating misdemeanour sanctions with the new misdemeanour sanctions provided for in this Law. In addition, the application of the Law on Mediation of 1 November 2006 as an alternative method for settling civil, commercial, working, consumer and other disputable relations provides for a decrease in the number of court cases and consequently, improved access to justice.

The application of established systems for management of court cases will significantly contribute to modernisation and efficiency of judiciary, and intensive training was organised for judges and court clerks.

The reform of the judiciary in the Republic of Macedonia is a continuing process for adoption of and harmonization with the International and European standards and best practices. In the second half of 2007, after completing the Strategy for reform of the judicial system from 2004, as a result of the Government commitment to keep the pace of the reform two additional Strategies were adopted: Strategy for Information and communication technology in the judiciary and Strategy for reform of the criminal legislation.

The Strategy for Information and communication technology in the judiciary is a strategic document projecting the introduction of the IT in the judiciary within the period of 2007-2010. The general objective of the Strategy is to establish and develop modern and computerized judiciary in the Republic of Macedonia, aiming to increase the overall efficiency of the system based on ICT solutions and system in accordance to the European and International standards.

Furthermore, the Strategy for reform of the criminal legislation from 2007 consists of two segments: reform of the criminal procedural legislation and reform of the substantive criminal legislation. Namely, concrete directions and activities are being defined and planned within particular timeframe. The key novelties will be implemented within the Law on criminal procedure and the Criminal Code of the Republic of Macedonia.
