

Antonio Cherubini, MD, PhD, is Director of Geriatrics and Geriatric emergency care at IRCCS-INRCA, Ancona, Italy. He is also Associate Professor of Gerontology and Geriatrics at the University of Perugia Medical School. He has performed research at the Geriatric Research Education Clinical Center (GRECC), VA hospital, Gainesville, FL.; at the Massachusetts General Hospital, Harvard Medical School, Boston, Ma; at the Human Nutrition research Center on Aging, Tufts University, Boston, Ma; at the Longitudinal branch Section, National Institute of Aging, Baltimore, Md. He is member of the Academic Board of the EUGMS and member of the Geriatric Expert Group at the European Medicine Agency. Member of the Ethics committee of the Marche region. Author of more than 200 papers in peer reviewed journals and of five books. He is one of the Editors of the book "Clinical trials in older adults", Wiley, 2015. His main research interests are antioxidants in aging and age-related diseases, geriatric depression, comprehensive geriatric assessment, geriatric pharmacotherapy, including the exclusion of older subjects from clinical research. Editor of the section on clinical trial and aging, Journal of Nutrition Health and Aging. Editorial board member of the following journals: Aging, Clinical and Experimental Research; European Geriatric Medicine; Journal of Aging and Frailty.