1. Introduction

Visual identity symbolises the very image of an institution. With a single, consistent and easily recognisable identity, we reinforce our image as the leading organisation defending human rights, democracy and the rule of law in Europe. We assert our role as a reference organisation, the guardian of values, a forum for debate and a driving force for reform putting human beings and their fundamental rights at the very heart of society.

The visual identity approach adopted is designed to draw attention to the existence of the Council of Europe and its values in all communication media, while preserving the individuality of each of the Organisation's constituent institutions. This enhances the visibility and reputation of the Organisation among its target audiences. The challenge is to ensure recognition of the Council of Europe as a unified, multi-constituent organisation, while also placing an emphasis on our many partnerships, in particular with the European Union.

While the logo is the most visible component of the Organisation's visual identity, the latter is also based on a whole series of graphic elements (colours, typography, layout, signature) and the way these elements are arranged depending on the medium in question (letterheads, envelopes, documents, visibility material, banners, posters, leaflets, publications, etc.). All these elements and the rules for their application, collated in the Graphic Charter, convey the image and values of the Council of Europe.

It is therefore essential that all the entities and institutions of the Council of Europe, including the field offices, make systematic use of the Graphic Charter. This will undoubtedly not only raise the profile of our Organisation, but will also ensure internal consistency. By reflecting our values, our visual identity expresses the reasons why our Organisation is proud of its commitment and of its achievements.

2. Logos and their use

2.1 COUNCIL OF EUROPE'S LOGO

As a key component of the Council of Europe's visual identity, the logo symbolises the Organisation's mission and the fundamental values on which its image is based. Its background is the European flag, adopted by our Organisation in 1955. Set against the blue sky, the stars form a circle representing the union of its member states. The number of stars is fixed, 12 being the symbol of perfection and completeness, bringing to mind, for example, the system we use for telling the time and the months of the year.

The European flag is combined with a unique dynamic symbol (the spiral) representing the sharing of experience between European countries, and the dynamism and constant commitment of the Council of Europe. The choice of white, a classic and institutional colour, echoes the graphic identity of the Organisation.

Lastly, the logo prominently displays the name of the Organisation in English and French, the two official languages.

The shape, font or colour must not be altered.

It is not recommended to use or to divert elements of the logo – notably the curve.

The logo is bilingual (English-French) and not to be translated into other languages.
Use of the logo in four colours is mandatory on four-colour backgrounds.

3. Page layouts and applications

3.1 LAYOUT GRID FOR FRONT COVERS

The page is divided into two areas:

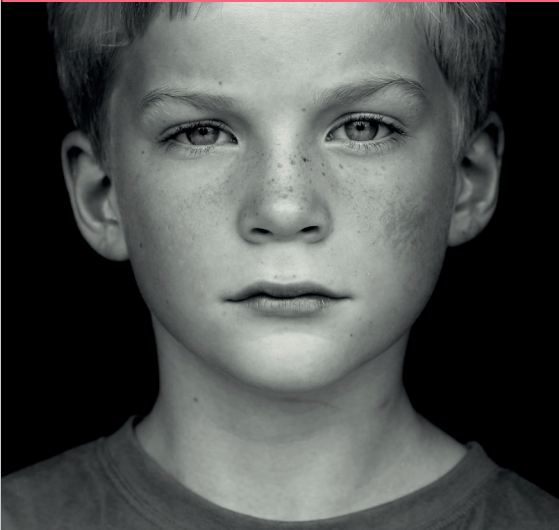

- ▶ A common bottom third in white, including the logo and, as appropriate, the associated logos and external logos; it reflects the weight of the institution.
The Organisation's logo incorporates this classical and institutional white colour.
- ▶ The top two thirds; a dynamic area reserved for the specific theme of the medium, which may or may not be associated with colours.

Reminder: with bilingual content, the English is always to be put first.

The page layout formatting grid is structured on the principle of sectioning in squares to allow all variants.

PERSPECTIVES ON YOUTH
2020 – what do YOU see?

Initiatives For Youth

Volume 1

Co-funded by the European Union

COUNCIL OF EUROPE
Co-funded and implemented by the Council of Europe

The member states of the European Union have decided to link together their know-how, resources and desires. Together, they have built a zone of stability, democracy and sustainable development, whilst maintaining cultural diversity, tolerance and individual freedoms. The European Union is committed to sharing its achievements and to values with countries and peoples beyond its borders.

The Council of Europe is the continent's leading human rights organisation. It comprises 46 member states, including all members of the European Union. All Council of Europe member states have signed up to the European Convention on Human Rights, a treaty designed to protect human rights, democracy and the rule of law. The European Court of Human Rights oversees the implementation of the Convention in the member states.

Perspectives on youth is a new series published by the partnership between the European Commission and the Council of Europe in the field of youth with the support of five countries – Belgium, Finland, France, Germany and the United Kingdom – and the Nordic Council of Ministers. Its purpose is to bring national youth policies closer together and to keep the largely European dialogue about key problems of national and supranational child and youth policy on a solid foundation in terms of content, expertise and politics. The series aims to act as a forum for information, discussion, reflection and dialogue on European developments in the field of youth policy, youth research and youth work.

The conceptual strategy behind this series is meant to be critical and anticipative, reflecting European youth policies and their relevance for and impact on young people. It also highlights trends in the youth field that need innovative and forward-looking strategies. The series aims to contribute to the development and promotion of a youth policy and of a youth work practice that is based on knowledge as well as participatory principles. It is also intended to be a forum for peer-learning between member states of the European Union as well as of the Council of Europe. The plan is to publish Perspectives on youth at least once a year. This first issue focuses on '2020 – what do YOU see?' featuring a futuristic perspective on the lives of young people across Europe and the wider world, based on research, social trends, policy planning, changing demographics, employment prospects, sustainable development and security, among other things.

3.14 PHOTOGRAPHS AND COLOURS

USE OF PHOTOS

To express both the serious and the human side of our activities, photography is favoured for all our media, particularly publications of all types and posters. Photos henceforth replace all illustrations with drawings, geometric shapes, monograms, pictograms, etc. The top two thirds of the page may also be used for areas of solid colour or arrangements of texts to complement the necessary textual elements (title, author, quotations, short text, etc.).

Photos: ©Shutterstock
Any reproduction of other sources of photos, illustrations or infographics (by any means, printed or digital, commercial or free of charge) is subject to authorisation.

- ▶ The colour palettes are generated from the images used.
- ▶ To select a colour scheme when creating a publication, we suggest looking for matching tones in the photos you have chosen.
- ▶ The colour range obtained makes for a richer ensemble and makes each publication more unique.

Choosing an image and getting the best out of it

Sometimes some images seem unsuitable for illustrating a theme. But by reframing an image or heightening certain of its features, its character can be bolstered and a new meaning extracted from it.
