THE EUROPEAN YOUTH FOUNDATION

■ The European Youth Foundation (EYF) was established by the Council of Europe in 1972.

■ Based in Strasbourg, France, the EYF provides financial and educational support for European youth activities. It is a division in the Youth Department of the Council of Europe's Directorate of Democratic Citizenship and Participation, Directorate General of Democracy. It follows the main orientations of the Organisation to support the projects and activities of youth NGOs based in the 50 signatory states to the European Cultural Convention, i.e. the 47 member states of the Council of Europe, plus Belarus, Kazakhstan and the Holy See.

■ Rooted in the European Cultural Convention, the mission of Directorate of Democratic Citizenship and Participation is to develop democracy, human rights and the rule of law through education and youth policy and practice. The programmes focus on the emerging generation, enabling children and young people to become engaged and responsible European citizens who advocate human rights and participate fully in democratic life.

■ In the framework of this mission, the EYF not only provides support to non-governmental youth organisations and networks, but it has also become an instrument for the voice of young people to be heard at the highest decision-making level.

■ The youth sector of the Council of Europe possesses a unique structure, as it is managed by both non-governmental youth organisations (NGOs) and representatives of governments. Representatives from NGOs sit down in committees with government officials, who together work out the priorities for the youth sector and make recommendations for future budgets and programmes. These proposals are then adopted by the Committee of Ministers, the Council of Europe's decision-making body.

■ The EYF takes the priorities defined by this co-managed structure into account when evaluating the grant applications it receives. Special attention is given to certain issues which embody the values of the Council of Europe and allow the EYF to position itself as an important vehicle for promoting peace, understanding and respect.

Key figures

■ The Foundation has an annual budget of approximately 3.7 million euros, which is mainly made up of obligatory contributions from each Council of Europe member state.

■ Since 1972, more than 330 000 young people, aged between 15 and 30 and mostly from member states, have benefited directly from EYF-supported activities. The EYF provides grants to around 200 youth activities every year.

INTRODUCTION

■ This document gives an overview of the projects and activities of non-governmental youth organisations supported by the European Youth Foundation (EYF) in 2016, and reports on the other activities of the EYF.

■ Since its creation, the EYF has put in place a series of initiatives to improve its working methods and better respond to the needs of its partners. More than just a donor, the EYF offers financial but also educational support to youth NGOs, focusing on the content and methodology of projects.

■ Following the entry into force of the new operational regulations of the European Youth Foundation on 1 January 2013, all grant applications and reports are submitted via the new EYF online system: annual work plans, international activities, structural grants and pilot activities.

■ Through feedback, recommendations and questions, the EYF has set up a reflective process with the aim of increasing the quality of projects. The focus is on the elaboration of projects that have a tangible, concrete impact. Two-way communication, flexibility, diversity and respect are the guiding principles of the Foundation and its staff.

■ Since 2013, the EYF organises an annual seminar for NGOs registered in its database, in order to present and evaluate the new working methods it has introduced and to reinforce its partnership with youth NGOs.

■ The EYF created a new website in 2013 to improve its visibility and communication tools; this was updated in 2015: <http://eyf.coe.int>. More space is provided to promote the work carried out by youth NGOs with EYF support. The resources page includes publications, videos and photos provided by these organisations.

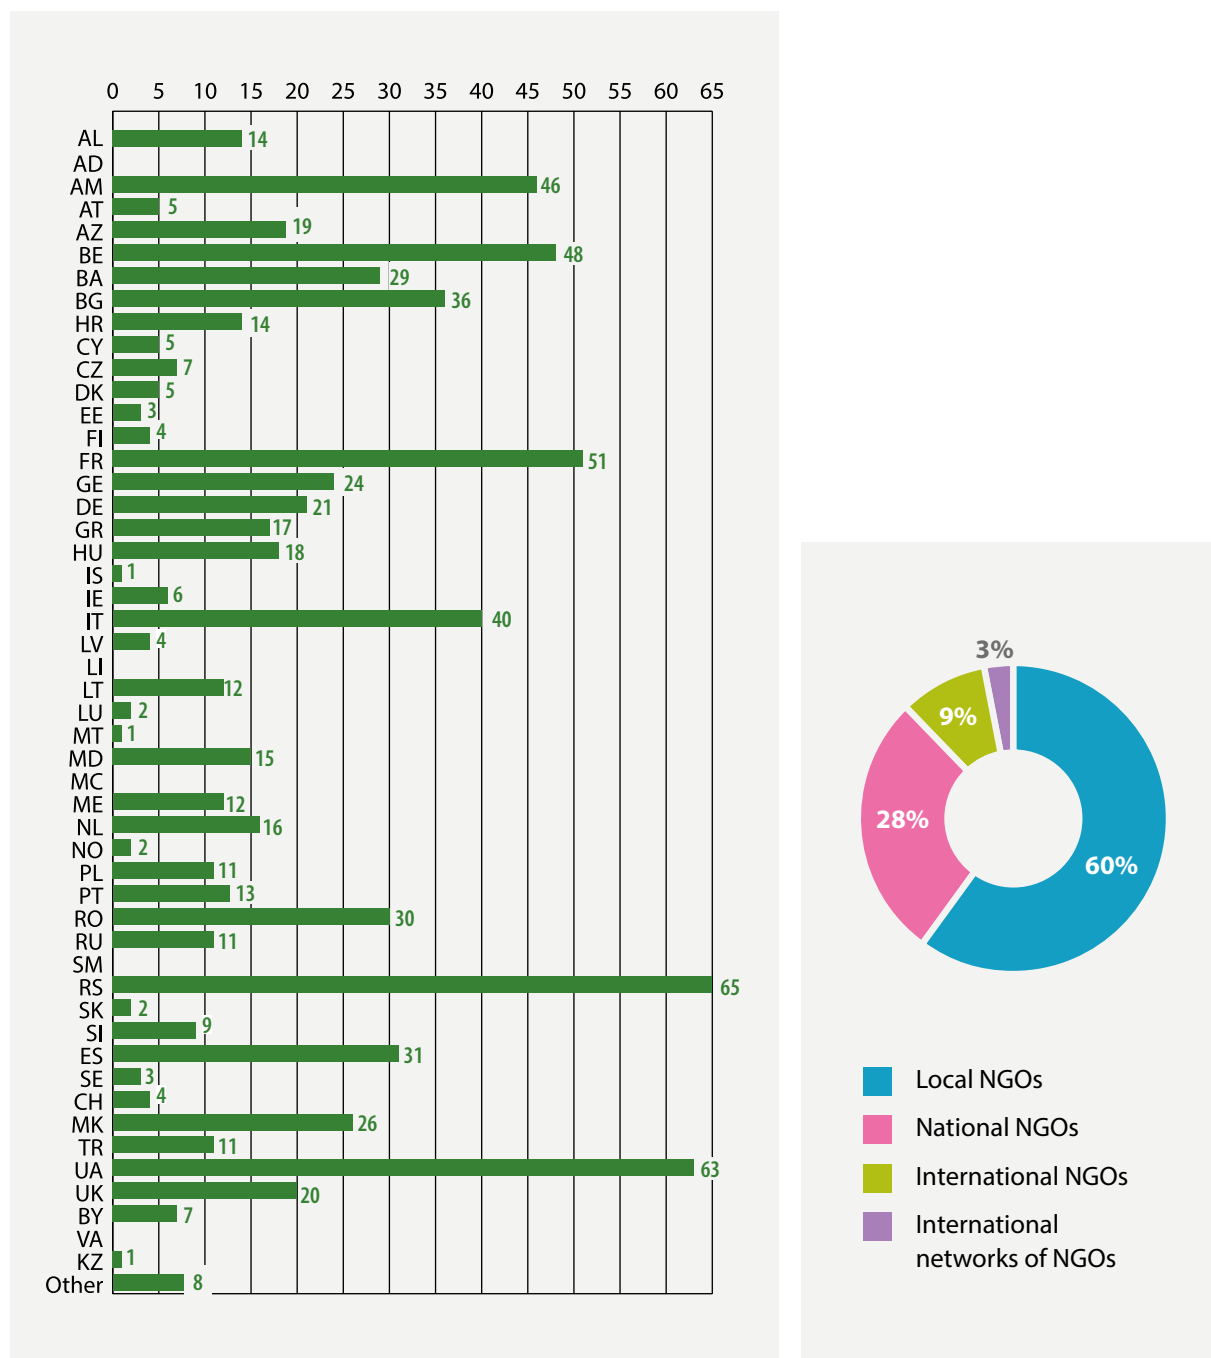

■ In 2013 the EYF created a new visual identity in order to better convey its values and, in 2015, adopted a new slogan to promote its ambition to offer more than just financial support to youth NGOs: “from a donor to a partner”.

PARTNER NGOs

■ The European Youth Foundation can support non-governmental youth organisations at local, national and international level based in the signatory states to the European Cultural Convention.<sup>1</sup> Organisations must be registered in the EYF database to be able to apply for a project grant. At the end of 2016, 792 organisations were registered in 45 countries (plus Kosovo<sup>2</sup>).

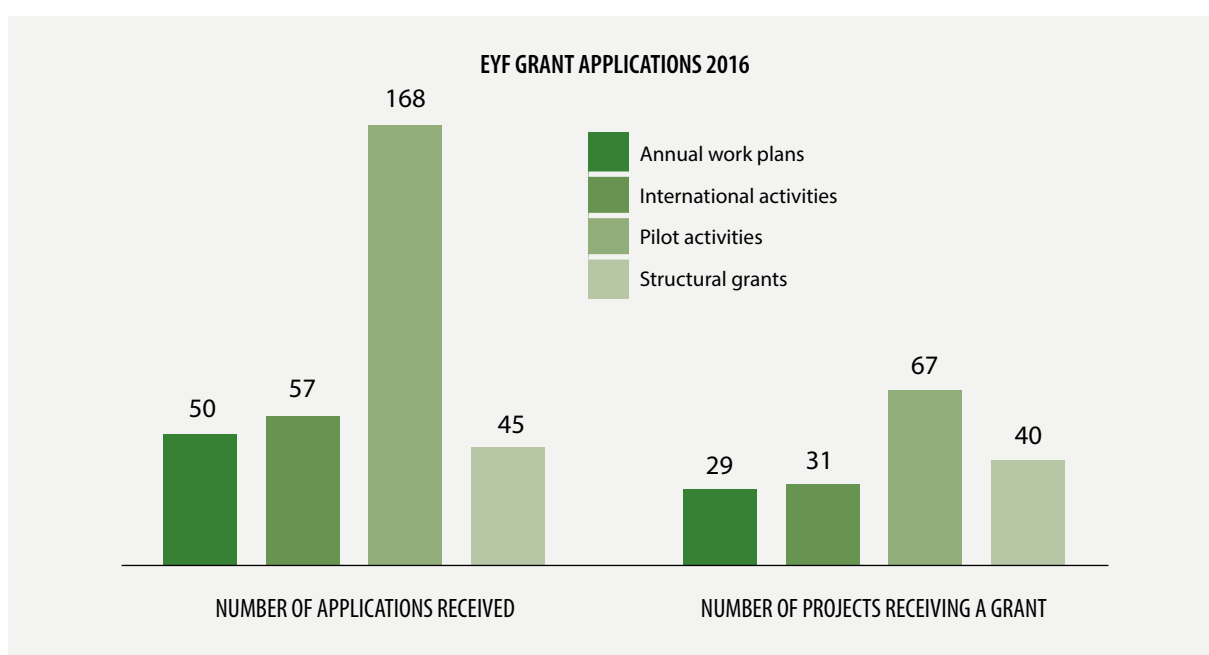

1. 47 member states of the Council of Europe, plus Belarus, Kazakhstan and the Holy See (see full list in Appendix VI).
2. All reference to Kosovo, whether to the territory, institutions or population, in this text shall be understood in full compliance with United Nations Security Council Resolution 1244 and without prejudice to the status of Kosovo.

EYF SUPPORT

There are four kinds of grants open to different types of organisations:

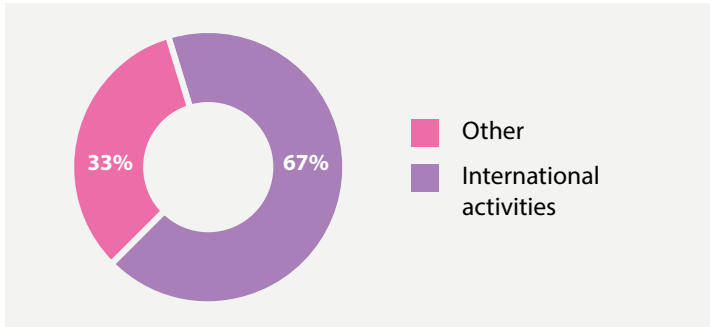

- ▶ Annual work plans (only open to international NGOs/networks): composed by a set of activities including at least one international activity
- ▶ International activities (open to all except local NGOs)
- ▶ Pilot activities (open to local/national NGOs and regional networks)
- ▶ Structural grants (open to international NGOs/networks and regional networks)

	NUMBER OF APPLICATIONS RECEIVED	NUMBER OF PROJECTS RECEIVING A GRANT	GRANTS AWARDED
ANNUAL WORK PLANS	50	29	€1 298 200
INTERNATIONAL ACTIVITIES	57	31	€489 700
PILOT ACTIVITIES	168	67	€595 800
STRUCTURAL GRANTS	45	40	€659 646
TOTAL	320	167	€3 043 346

1. Annual work plans

WHAT IS A WORK PLAN? International non-governmental youth organisations or networks can apply for an annual work plan, which includes a set of successive activities over a period of one year, interconnected and contributing to the same broader aim. These activities can be “international” (a meeting of young people from at least 7 Council of Europe member states) or “other” (e.g. local activities, workshops, campaigns, development of tools).

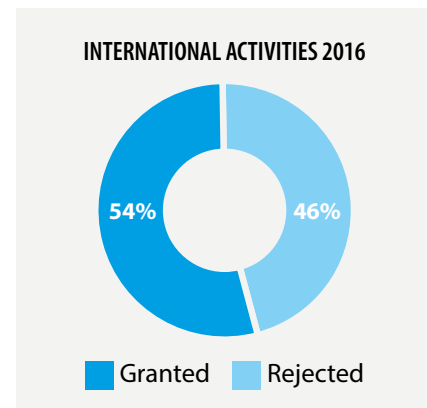

Out of 50 applications received for 2016, 29 annual work plans were approved, representing a total amount of €1 298 200. The average grant awarded was €25 964 (minimum €16 400, maximum €50 000). Ten organisations were awarded the maximum grant of €50 000. Within the work plans, 67 international activities and 33 other activities were supported (see Appendix I).

2. International activities

WHAT IS AN INTERNATIONAL ACTIVITY? International non-governmental youth organisations or networks and national youth NGOs with at least three partners can apply for a one-off international activity. This is a meeting of young people or youth leaders which contributes to the work and educational values of the Council of Europe’s youth sector and has a clear European dimension.

Out of 57 applications received, 31 one-off international activities were supported in 2016, representing a total amount of €489 700 (see Appendix II). The average grant awarded was €15 797 (minimum €7 300, maximum €20 000).

3. Pilot activities

WHAT IS A PILOT ACTIVITY? Local and national non-governmental youth organisations can apply for a pilot activity, which should be an “intervention”, i.e. an activity addressing a contextual societal challenge affecting young people at local level. It should be based on innovation or on replication (of best practices for example). In addition, a pilot activity should have clear links to and an impact on the local context and correspond to the priorities of the Council of Europe’s youth programme.

In 2016, 168 applications were submitted for support, 67 of which were accepted for a total of €595 800 (see Appendix III).

Nearly a fifth of pilot activities (18%) took place in Serbia, 10% in Spain, and 9% in Albania, Georgia and Ukraine.

EMYN training course

4. Structural grants

WHAT IS A STRUCTURAL GRANT? To be eligible, an international organisation/network must have received support for at least 3 international activities during the previous 3 years (EYF grant or study session in the annual programme of the European Youth Centres). In addition to quantitative criteria (number of branches/members in the signatory states of the European Cultural Convention; employed staff), a qualitative assessment has been introduced. The strategic approach of the organisation/network is assessed in relation to the priorities (expected results) defined by the Joint Council on Youth for the biennium in question. On the basis of these criteria and the amount requested, an EYF grant is awarded in principle for two years and confirmed after the first year (maximum €25 000 per year).

■ For the period 2016-2017, grants totalling €1 319 294 were awarded to 40 well-established international youth NGOs (minimum grant awarded for two years: €20 000; maximum €46 580 (see Appendix IV). A one-off annual structural grant (maximum grant €10 000) is available for regional networks building up a European structure, but no applications were received for 2016, as was the case in 2014 and 2015.

5. Integrated grant

Following the introduction of the new grant categories in 2013 and in view of the long-lasting relations between the European Youth Forum (YFJ) and the Council of Europe's youth sector, the YFJ received an annual integrated grant of €93 000 for 2016.

■ The work of the European Youth Forum contributes to the objectives of the Council of Europe and the priorities of the youth sector for 2016-2017 at different levels, focusing on youth participation, youth autonomy and inclusion and strong youth organisations. The European Youth Forum acts as an agenda-setter on youth affairs at European level and as a platform for the empowerment of its member organisations.

EYF PRIORITIES

■ All activities supported by the European Youth Foundation should be linked to the priorities (expected results) of the Council of Europe's youth sector. These priorities are defined by the central co-managed political body of the youth sector, the Joint Council on Youth. The three strategic priorities for 2016-2017 focus on:

- ▶ supporting young people and member states in increasing the participation of young people in democratic processes;
- ▶ supporting member states and youth NGOs in the implementation of Committee of Ministers' Recommendation CM/Rec(2015)3 on the access of young people from disadvantaged neighbourhoods to social rights (ENTER recommendation);
- ▶ supporting the promotion of inclusive and peaceful societies, especially through the extended No Hate Speech Movement and the Roma Youth Action Plan.

■ The Programming Committee on Youth is the co-managed body taking decisions on the programme of the youth sector, including the grants awarded by the European Youth Foundation.

■ When taking its decisions, the Programming Committee on Youth examines a proposed project's links with the expected results and how it can contribute to achieving the overall objectives of the youth sector. Examples of the different types of activity supported by the EYF according to the expected results and programme orientations for 2016-2017 are given below.

1. Young people and decision-making

Expected result 1: Young people and youth organisations have developed their competences and knowledge to influence decisions in democratic processes

Programme orientations

- E-forms of youth participation and promoting human rights online
- Promoting real influence of young people in decision-making processes, particularly participation at the local and regional level
- Acquisition of competences for democratic citizenship
- Promoting youth participation in formal education

YOUTH PROJECTS SUPPORTED BY THE EYF IN 2016
ER1: 33 PROJECTS, €699 500

Examples of projects

- "Training for trainers on Human Rights Education: Cultivating groups of thoughtful committed citizens". Youth for Exchange and Understanding organised this international activity in Lviv, Ukraine, from 9 to 16 March 2016 with 27 participants from 11 countries. The idea of the project was to make youth workers and trainers more committed in promoting and enhancing human rights in their organisations, communities and activities with young people.
- The European Youth Minority Network (EMYN) focused its annual work plan on fostering the civic participation at local and regional level of minority young people, i.e. youth from under-represented groups or with fewer opportunities. A training course involved 25 youth workers and 175 young people participated in four regional seminars. They came from more than 30 cities and regions and represented more than a hundred organisations.

2. Young people's access to rights

Expected result 2: Stakeholders have been assisted to take actions to foster young people's access to their rights and young people's autonomy

Programme orientations

- Young people's transition to autonomy through a rights-based approach
- Young people's access to rights and the implementation/follow-up of the Committee of Ministers recommendation on young people's access to rights
- Increasing knowledge of and capacity to combat intersectional, multiple and other forms of discrimination
- Acquisition of competences through non-formal learning and its recognition

Participants at the summer school Zorjaras

Examples of projects

- The European Play Work Association organised an international training seminar "Jovens4dignity -Youth work in our communities: re-discovering dignity" in September 2016, hosted by Eco-stilistas, a youth and community association, which works on a volunteer basis in a very disadvantaged community in Lisbon. The activity aimed to create a redefined understanding of the connections between local youth empowerment, community-based work, promotion of social and human rights and international networking.

Testimonial from a participant: "THE NICEST EXPERIENCE: To have the opportunity to talk with each person individually. THE MOST IMPORTANT: To learn some new methods. THE MOST MOVING: Sharing with the others and listening their stories, which left me speechless."

- The Roma National Center (CNR) organised a summer school "Zorjaras – Empowerment of Young Roma Women", in June 2016 in Vadul lui Voda, Republic of Moldova. The CNR gathered 25 young Roma women and men, aged between 17 and 30, from different regions, to provide them with skills and knowledge on gender equality, tools of activism, participation and empowerment of young Roma women.

Examples of projects

- a. The European Federation for Intercultural Learning (EFIL) built its annual work plan "Building peaceful societies through intercultural education" around activities in Poland, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Belgium and Italy. After debating the complexity of identity construction and the role of identity in micro- and macro-scale conflict, post-war reconciliation and Islamophobia, the work plan culminated in a volunteer summit on "Education for Peace: the challenge of living together".

Testimonial: For EFIL as an organisation, running a regional activity was very exciting and turned out to be very successful. We are interested in trying further activities like this in the future."

- b. The Hate Fighters Network presented the results of its work plan in Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina, in December 2016. The activities carried out within this work plan involved 456 young people from 8 European countries, including a training for trainers to provide young people with the knowledge, skills and tools to combat hate speech on-line through photography, graphics, hip hop dance and music.

December 2016 - Hate Fighters Network final conference in Sarajevo

- c. Conflict Transformers NET is a platform for conflict transformation based on online youth activism. To set up this tool, the Serbian NGO Libero gathered 26 youth workers and activists from 10 European countries in Vrsac, Serbia, from 21 to 26 June 2016 to compile practical guidelines on how to use online tools for addressing conflicts <http://www.network.libero.org.rs/>

3. Intercultural dialogue and peace-building

Expected result 3: NGOs and youth workers have been supported in their work on intercultural dialogue and peace-building

Programme orientations

- a. Peace-building and intercultural dialogue through non-formal learning and formal education
- b. Countering violent extremism
- c. Integration/social inclusion of migrants, young refugees, minority and vulnerable groups, including follow-up of the Roma Youth Action Plan
- d. Supporting youth NGOs in conflict affected regions
- e. Continuing building strong links with relevant actors in the youth field on a global level

Online platform for conflict resolution

4. Priorities for pilot activities

In order to respond as far as possible to the needs of youth NGOs, more focused priorities are adopted for the pilot activities every year. In 2016 these were:

1. Combating hate speech
2. Building inclusive societies, i.e. initiatives supporting social inclusion strategies for young migrants and refugees; strengthening social cohesion in multicultural settings; responding to stigmatisation and discrimination of/by young people based on religion or on ethnic grounds.
3. Building peaceful communities, i.e. youth activities and trainings developed at local level and contributing to the Council of Europe Action Plan to fight against violent extremism and radicalisation leading to terrorism; conflict transformation activities and activities aiming to strengthen youth NGOs in conflict and post-conflict settings (especially in Ukraine).

Special attention was given to pilot activities integrating a gender perspective (bearing in mind the Council of Europe strategy for Gender Equality 2014-2017).

In 2016, 168 grant applications were received and 67 grants were awarded for a total of €595 800. Almost a quarter of the projects addressed the situation of migrants, refugees or Roma; about one fifth aimed to combat hate speech or extremism; youth participation and peacebuilding were also recurring themes.

Examples of projects

- a. On 12 September 2016 in Nicosia, the Cypriot NGO Aequitas launched an online platform which contains useful information to understand what hate speech is (<http://www.notohatespeech.com/>). The website <http://www.aequitas-humanrights.org/portfolio/say-no-to-hate-speech-young-people-empowered/> explains how to use the platform, which was created specifically for young people. An online chat system offers information and support, not only for victims of hate speech but also for their family and friends.

b. ARCI Nuova Associazione Circolo Territoriale Chieti organised an international youth meeting "Inclusion of marginalised young people through human rights education, art and creativity" from 25 June to 4 July 2016 in Italy. This project involved 35 young people from marginalised backgrounds in seven countries. Using art and creative methods, the participants reflected on human rights and social rights, thus improving their knowledge and awareness of the process of marginalisation and discrimination of young people and the importance of social integration.

c. The Center of Youth Initiatives Totem organised a pilot activity "Diversity for peace" in Kherson, Ukraine on 22-28 April 2016. In the framework of this collaborative project promoting dialogue, tolerance and mutual support between different groups of southern Ukraine, 25 young people from this area met refugees from the east of Ukraine. The participants learned to promote tolerance, to respect and support diversity in society based on understanding the principle of unity in diversity, and to build dialogue with local communities and decrease the level of aggression in society. The young people met with representatives of different nationalities, carried out historical quests in the city, produced photos and videos which were shown to the public and produced a documentary play from testimonials and material that they had gathered themselves.

Presentation in Ukraine in April 2016

Testimonial from CYI Totem: "The positive aspect of receiving EYF support for the project was the possibility of co-operation with local government and presenting the exhibition 'Diversity for peace' in the public space (the main street of Kherson) on 21 May 2016 – the Day of Europe in Ukraine."

FLAGSHIP ACTIVITIES OF THE EYF

1. Visits to EYF-supported projects

■ The Programming Committee on Youth has defined a clear frame for the organisation of visits by the EYF Secretariat to EYF-supported activities:

1. to monitor the project (public administration rule of "auditing") and assessment in comparison with the information given in the application (methodology, content, etc);
2. to increase the visibility of the Council of Europe, the Youth Department and the European Youth Foundation (presentation to the participants, meeting with other NGOs);
3. to establish direct links with supported youth NGOs and to collect their comments and appreciation of the EYF;
4. to give feedback to the Programming Committee;
5. to gain awareness of the specific situations, needs and trends at a grassroots level.

■ In addition, the EYF decided to use these visits:

- ▶ To enhance the co-operation with the Council of Europe offices in other countries.

The aim was to establish a regular exchange of information so that the external offices can relay information about the EYF through their e-mail lists and websites, and give feedback to the EYF about NGOs or activities taking place in their countries.

- ▶ To contact and visit – if time and circumstances allow – other NGOs which are unfamiliar with the EYF.

■ In 2013 the Council of Europe's Directorate of Internal Oversight (DIO) conducted an audit on the EYF. One of the recommendations was to visit 5% of the supported youth activities per year, at least one third of which should be pilot activities. In the past, the EYF had mainly visited international activities but, following the discovery of several cases of fraud which mainly concerned pilot activities, and acting upon the advice of the internal audit, visits to pilot activities were introduced in 2014.

■ The EYF Secretariat visited 13 projects in 12 countries in 2016, including 4 pilot activities (see Appendix V).

Visit in June 2016 to the international activity "ESN Leadership Academy" organised by the Erasmus Student Network in Szeged, Hungary, in the framework of its 2016 annual work plan.

2. EYF seminars

WHY DOES THE EYF ORGANISE ITS OWN SEMINARS?

Through a combination of non-formal education methods, discussions, workshops and simulations the EYF seminars have the following aims:

- ▶ develop a common understanding on a strategic use of EYF grants to best meet the needs of young people in all Council of Europe countries;
- ▶ receive feedback and share information on EYF's regulations, application/reporting system, website;
- ▶ gain awareness about the different situations organisations address with the support of EYF grants;
- ▶ revitalise transparency and accountability between the EYF and youth organisations;
- ▶ achieve open and informal networking between the EYF team and the people running projects with EYF grants.

Following “EYF(Re)loaded” – It all starts with You(th)” in 2013, “EYF(R)evolution” in 2014 and “EYF(Re) generation” in 2015, the EYF organised its (Re)mix seminar at the European Youth Centre in Strasbourg from 29 February to 4 March 2016.

Thirty-eight participants representing 38 different local and international youth NGOs from 23 countries participated in the seminar, as well as two co-ordinators who worked closely with the EYF team.

The programme was built around three central elements:

- ▶ the objectives set by the EYF team (mainly to create a common understanding and gain awareness about EYF grants, the different situations organisations addressed with the support of EYF grants, as well as to revitalise transparency and accountability between the EYF and youth organisations);
- ▶ the learning needs expressed by the participants;
- ▶ and the EYF's principles and spirit (two-way communication, transparency, accountability, flexibility and respect).

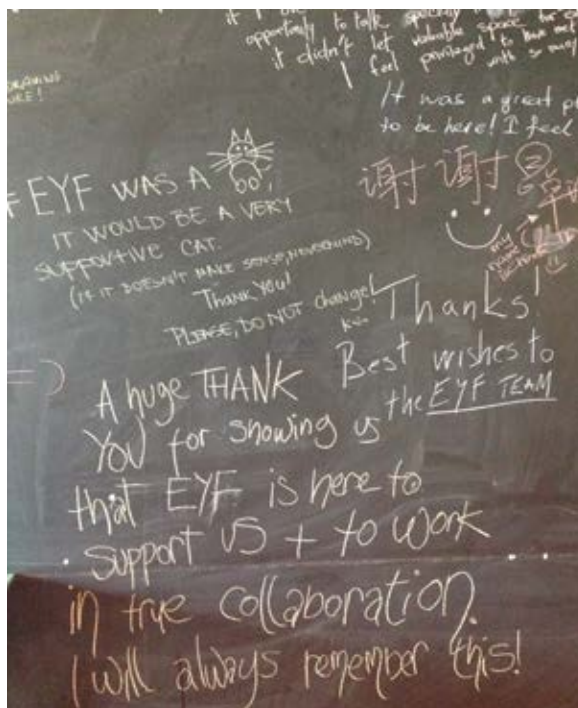

A session on gender mainstreaming in youth activities was part of the programme.

Based on this enriching experience, the EYF will be organising “EYF (Re)wind” in 2017, involving representatives of local and national youth NGOs.

Participants at the (Re)mix seminar

Testimonial from a participant in EYF (Re)mix: “This is a great opportunity to find further collaborations between European Youth Foundation, national and international organisations, who work on a daily basis to empower youth. Many stakeholders say youth is the future. But reality is that youth is the present.”

Evaluation of participants

3. EYF information sessions

In 2016, the EYF organised two information sessions in March and September for representatives of international youth NGOs at the Council of Europe office in Brussels, where a large number of organisations active in the youth field are based. The EYF also invited some representatives of international NGOs based outside Brussels. As these sessions took place prior to the 1 April and the 1 October grant application deadlines, the EYF was able to explain its working methods and the modifications it has introduced to improve the processing of grant applications and reports. The NGO representatives thus had the occasion to ask questions and clarify doubts, with a view to improving the quality of applications.

What the participants thought about the information sessions in Brussels

4. Other EYF presentations

Besides the visits to supported projects, the EYF has received numerous requests from other youth NGOs and partners to present the Foundation and its framework. This is a great occasion to detail the opportunities offered by the EYF and to exchange with different stakeholders about the needs of young people in Europe. While the EYF project visits target youth NGOs already working with the EYF, these presentations are also an opportunity to exchange with representatives of youth NGOs and partners who have not worked with the EYF before. Most of these additional presentations take place during study sessions organised by youth NGOs in co-operation with the European Youth Centres in Strasbourg and Budapest.

5. European Youth Forum Info Day

In November 2016, the EYF took part in the Info Day on European Funding for Youth Organisations in Brussels. Organised by the European Youth Forum for 50 representatives of international youth NGOs and networks, this meeting aimed at providing a general overview of the main sources of funding available for youth organisations at the European level. The EYF gave a detailed overview of the support it can provide to youth NGOs and responded to questions youth NGOs have about their relations with the EYF.

SPECIFICITY OF THE EYF

1. Volunteer Time Recognition

At its meeting in December 2013, the Programming Committee on Youth agreed on a method to recognise the time given by volunteers to youth activities supported by the European Youth Foundation.

The methodology used to calculate volunteer time recognition (VTR) is based on specific criteria as well as trust and transparency on the part of NGOs registered with the EYF and applying for a grant. A document explaining the EYF definition, the specifications and calculation of VTR is available on the EYF website.

Following the 2-year trial period 2014-15, the Joint Council on Youth (CMJ) decided to extend by two years the trial period for the assessment of volunteer time recognition in grants awarded by the EYF, to enable the Programming Committee on Youth to evaluate the situation, consult the relevant stakeholders and reshape the framework for the VTR system.

An Excel table was created to provide applicant NGOs with a simple tool to calculate VTR and the information was disseminated through e-mailings and news on the EYF website. At the time of writing (not all 2016 reports have been received), VTR has been included in 55 EYF-supported activities in 2016, compared to 15 in 2015.

2. Gender perspectives

The Joint Council on Youth is following closely the Council of Europe's Gender Equality Strategy 2014-2017, notably via the nomination of a Gender Equality Rapporteur. In addition, the EYF is contributing to Strategic Objective 5: Achieving Gender Mainstreaming in all policies and measures, by promoting the integration of a gender perspective in pilot activities run by non-governmental youth organisations with the support of the European Youth Foundation.

When submitting a grant application to the EYF, youth NGOs are asked to indicate how a gender perspective is included throughout the whole process of their activity. This does not just mean having an equal number of female and male participants, but involves looking at a project through "gender glasses", taking into account the different needs and circumstances of both young women and young men.

As there are very different understandings of what gender mainstreaming means and how it can be put into practice, the EYF is collecting materials, good practices and tools from NGOs on how to integrate a gender perspective in youth activities to publish on its dedicated web page <http://bit.ly/2j48U1Z>.

Moreover, projects dealing with gender issues were included on the list of EYF visits. One such visit was made in February when EYF staff met with the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts in Copenhagen (Denmark) and attended its "Gender Mainstreaming Task Force Meeting".

The EYF dedicated two sessions of the EYF (Re) mix seminar – held in the European Youth Centre in Strasbourg (29 February – 4 March) – to the concept of gender mainstreaming.

Testimonial from ARCI Chieti:

Thanks to this experience, we will include a gender perspective working session in all projects we will do in the future; it doesn't matter which specific thematic they deal with. We want to proceed in this process of growing skills, competences and knowledge in order to address this important topic better and better.

An example

The World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS) organised its annual work plan around the theme "Girl Guiding and Girl Scouting go gender mainstreaming". The aims were to raise awareness on gender issues, develop a gender mainstreaming methodology and tool, and through them promote mainstreaming by training facilitators and sharing the learning. WAGGGS's Gender Task Force and Diversity Task Force combined their work to produce a tool including both the gender perspective and the diversity perspective. An international activity gathered 40 participants from 22 different countries to learn how to develop gender-sensitive and accessible educational activities. These participants delivered 23 workshops to 1,740 young people at the large-scale annual Roverway event.

PUBLIC RELATIONS, COMMUNICATION AND VISIBILITY

■ The EYF website was redesigned at the end of 2015 and now has a new look and new features. The average number of visitors increased from 4 500 in 2015 to 5 574 at the end of 2016.

■ Its new visual identity, its clear and direct language and its informal approach have strengthened the EYF's relationship with young people and NGOs.

■ During this restructuring, the EYF included a page devoted to gender perspectives and added in its resources menu a series of documents intended for NGOs.

■ The EYF Newsletter has not escaped these changes. In 2016, the EYF drafted a new version, giving it a more modern and younger look.

■ The Foundation also updated the other communication tools at its disposal:

- ▶ The EYF brochure was translated into 5 additional languages. It now exists in 21 languages.
- ▶ The EYF Facebook account saw an increase in the number of visitors and recorded 2 400 new followers.

■ The EYF continues its collaboration with the No Hate Speech Movement Campaign and feeds the campaign newsletter with examples of EYF-supported projects.

■ The EYF continued to strengthen its links with the member states of the Council of Europe through meetings with the Permanent Representatives of the member states in Strasbourg in order to present the European Youth Foundation and its work.

■ Following the introduction in 2013 of the EYF's new operational regulations, a record number of grant applications were received in 2016. This increase was particularly significant for pilot activities implemented at local and regional level. The EYF's investment in terms of pedagogical approach and communication, "from a donor to a partner", is reinforced by this development.

■ The EYF increased the number of visits to supported projects, information sessions and presentations in order to ensure that the users of the Foundation and all the stakeholders understand not only the operational rules, but also the EYF's approach and philosophy.

■ The members of the Programming Committee on Youth and the Secretariat of the Foundation have deepened their reflection to integrate the feedback received from users, in order to meet the changing needs of youth organisations as closely as possible. The innovations introduced by the Foundation include simplifying its application and report forms, being flexible in the implementation of the rule whereby an EYF-supported international activity must have a minimum of four working days, continuing to recognise the time volunteers devote to the youth activities supported by the EYF, as well as giving importance to the work on gender perspectives.

■ In 2017, the EYF will continue to strengthen the correlation between the needs of youth organisations and those of the member states providing its budget. It will do its utmost to involve new youth organisations. In addition, a special effort will be made to increase the visibility of the Foundation by using its website and social media, by strengthening communication with users and other stakeholders, as well as by increasing the number of project visits and new tools available online. Finally, materials produced by youth organisations in the framework of activities supported by the EYF will be promoted and published on the EYF's website.
