Since its foundation in 1949, the Council of Europe has prepared more than 200 conventions, building a significant common European legal heritage.

The Secretary General decided to taking stock of the situation of the Council of Europe's conventions and has therefore drafted a report on the review of Council of Europe conventions (SG/Inf(2012)12, 12 May 2012). The main objectives of this exercise are:

- draw up a list of key conventions which can provide a common legal platform for all member States in the fields of Human Rights, the Rule of Law and Democracy;
- identify those conventions which are obsolete, not in force, or with a limited application, in order to tidy up the list of Council of Europe conventions;
- identify those conventions which need updating in order to retain or increase their relevance over the next ten years;
- identify ways of promoting accession to the relevant conventions by non-member States;
- identify ways of facilitating accession by the European Union to existing and future Council of Europe conventions;
- suggest measures which might increase the relevance, the visibility of, and the number of Contracting Parties to, Council of Europe conventions.

At its 1168th meeting (10 April 2013), the Committee of the Ministers took note of the Secretary General report and instructed the steering and ad hoc committees to carry out an examination of the conventions for which they have been given responsibility, in order to:

- propose ways of improving the visibility, impact and efficiency of some or all of the conventions for which they have been given responsibility;
- draw the attention of member States to the relevant conventions;
- where necessary, identify any operational problems or obstacles to ratification of the relevant conventions, and draw the attention of member States to reservations;
- encourage States to regularly examine the possibility and/or desirability of becoming a Party to new Council of Europe conventions;
- assess the necessity or advisability of drafting amendments or additional protocols to the conventions for which they have been given responsibility or drafting supplementary conventions.

At its 65th plenary meeting (2-5 December 2013), the CDPC took note of these two documents. On 7 and 8 April 2014, the Bureau of the CDPC decided to instruct the Secretariat to prepare a document containing all relevant information on the conventions within the CDPC responsibility.

The aim of the present document is to present those conventions : number of ratifications and signatures, member States and non-member States of the Council of Europe Parties to the conventions¹, as well as whether or not the subject matter of the convention has recently been dealt by other international instruments.

Conventions under the direct responsibility of the CDPC

European Convention on the Punishment of Road Traffic Offences

The Convention aimed to address the increase, at that time, in road traffic between Parties and the dangers consequent upon the violation of rules designed to protect road users. It sets out a framework of mutual co-operation for more effective punishment of road traffic offences in the territories of the Parties.

The Convention derogates from the principle of territoriality by empowering a Party in whose territory a road traffic offence has been committed to choose between instituting proceedings itself or requesting the State of residence of the offender to prosecute the offence.

A list of offences to which the Convention applies appears in Annex 1 of the Convention, named the "Common Schedule of Road Traffic Offences".

Open for signature by the member States of the Council of Europe, in Strasbourg, on 30 November 1964.

Entry into force: 18 July 1972.

Convention on Insider Trading

The Convention provides for mutual assistance through the exchange of information between those responsible at national level for the surveillance of stock exchange transactions in order to discover and identify as rapidly as possible the preparation of irregular operations of insider trading.

Parties may, by simple declaration, extend this mutual assistance machinery to the search for those responsible for other irregular deals which could adversely affect equal access to information for all stock market traders or the quality of the information supplied to investors in order to ensure honest dealing (fraudulent financial operations, "rigging" of stock market prices, "laundering" of the proceedings of crime, etc.).

Convention on the Protection of Environment through Criminal Law

The Convention is aimed at improving the protection of the environment at European level by using the solution of last resort - criminal law - in order to deter and prevent conduct which is most harmful to it. It also seeks to harmonise national legislation in this field.

This new legal instrument obliges Contracting States to introduce specific provisions into their criminal law or to modify existing provisions in this field. It establishes as criminal offences a number of acts committed intentionally or through negligence where they cause or are likely to cause lasting damage to the quality of the air, soil, water, animals or plants, or result in the death of or serious injury to any person.

It defines the concept of criminal liability of natural and legal persons, specifies the measures to be adopted by states to enable them to confiscate property and define the powers available to the authorities, and provides for international co-operation.

The sanctions available must include imprisonment and pecuniary sanctions and may include reinstatement of the environment, the latter being an optional provision in the Convention.

Another major provision concerns the possibility for environmental protection associations to participate in criminal proceedings concerning offences provided for in the Convention.

Open for signature by the member States of the Council of Europe and the non-member States which have participated in its elaboration, in Strasbourg, on 4 November 1998.

Entry into force : This Convention will enter into force after 3 ratifications.

Council of Europe Convention on the counterfeiting of medical products and similar crimes involving threats to public health

Furthermore, it foresees the establishment of a monitoring body to oversee the implementation of the Convention by the States Parties.
