No Hate Speech Movement Identity Guidelines

January 2013

A strong brand is one of the most valuable assets an organisation owns. To make it truly powerful it needs to be applied consistently. Everyone has a part to play in doing this.

This identity guidelines has been created to preserve the value and unity of the No Hate Speech Movement campaign's visual identity. Uniform, high-quality reproduction is critical to ensuring positive impressions. The No Hate Speech Movement (NHSM) and the Hate Speech Watch (HSW) logotypes must always appear crisp, clear and readable.

The following pages provide a set of guidelines on how to use the No Hate Speech Movement logotype correctly.

Symbol

The symbol for the NHSM and HSW logotypes is the same and it has one version. It cannot be displayed in a different way. The simplicity and immediacy of the logo and its message is perfect for being used in different kind of materials.

Symbol. Print applications

This will be the logo of the Campaign in all printed and static products.

Symbol. For electronic and online usage

A dynamic/animated version of the logo will be used.

This version will have the same format but the text in the red heart will dynamically transform from Hate Me to Hate Me? and stabilise on No Hate.

Print recommendations

In corporate communications, NHSM/HSW logotypes have to be placed always on the top left. All the elements have to be align on the left to the NHSM/HSW lettering.

Typographic hierarchy

When a variety of type sizes and weights are used, the differences between them must be clearly recognisable. The contrast creates clear, strong and consistent designs. For corporate letters, Gotham Book 10 px is recommended for body text size and Gotham Bold 14 px for headers.

Arrangement of text

Typography has to be always ranged left. This provides the eye with a constant starting point for each line, making text easier to read.

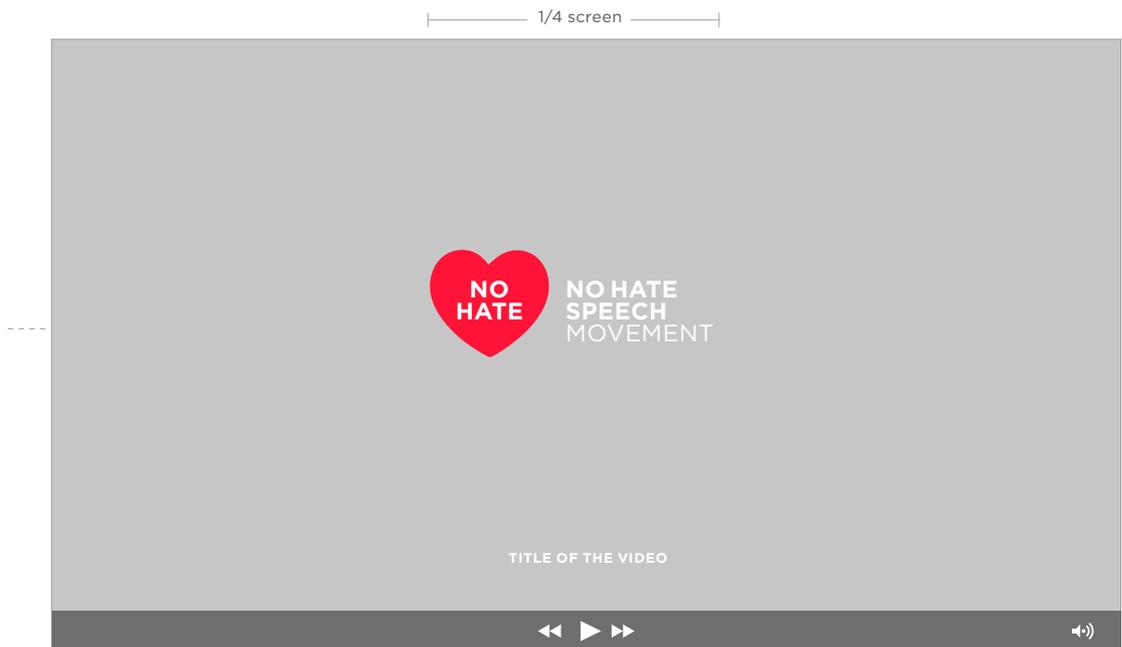

Line spacing has a major effect on legibility and influences the look of the final piece. It should be carefully considered and well executed to achieve a clean result.

Displaying NHSM/HSW logotypes on Videos

For videos, NHSM logotype have to be used in order to achieve good legibility. As possible use symbol in red and lettering in white or black depending of background. In video introductions, logotype has to be centered, and presented together with video titles. The recommended size logo is 1/4 of the screen width, but for smaller videos please choose a size that allows the best legibility.

Logo bug has to be placed on the right bottom (1/8 of the screen width). For this application, it has to be used the symbol alone.
