Council of Europe Strategy for the Rights of the Child 2016-2021

The Council of Europe Strategy for the Rights of the Child \(2016-2021\) is the third children's rights Strategy of the Council of Europe. Bearing in mind the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC), the European Convention on Human Rights, and other Council of Europe legal standards, this new plan identifies five priorities for all 47 member States to guarantee the rights of the child.

Equal opportunities

Children have the right to an equal standard of living and to appropriate social and economic protection.

Participation

Children have the right to be heard and participate in decision affecting them. Their views should be given due respect in the development, implementation and evaluation of child-related laws, policies and actions.

A life free from violence

States must guarantee that children are protected against all forms of violence, including sexual abuse and exploitation. The Council of Europe is a pioneer in setting standards for protecting children against violence.

Child-friendly justice

Many children come into contact with the justice system in one way or another. Sadly, justice systems in Europe are still ill-adapted to the specific needs of children. The Strategy calls on member States to implement the Council of Europe Guidelines on child-friendly justice, to ensure that primary consideration is given to the child's best interest, and to use deprivation of liberty only as a measure of last resort and for the shortest appropriate period of time.

Children's rights in the digital environment

Internet has become an integral part of children's lives. They have the right to learn, play and communicate online – and to be protected from bullying, hate speech, radicalization, sexual abuse, and other risks.

Protecting children against sexual exploitation and sexual abuse

- On 16 June 2016, the Lanzarote Committee adopted a Declaration showing deep concern about web addresses which self-evidently advertise or promote child sexual abuse material.
- Due to the urgency of the situation, the Lanzarote Committee adopted on 17 June 2016 a focused questionnaire on the protection of children affected by the refugee crisis from sexual exploitation and sexual abuse. Parties to the Convention and any other stakeholders are asked to reply by 15 September 2016.
- The 2nd Activity Report of the Lanzarote Committee is now available. It covers the period 11 September 2014 – 17 March 2016.

The conference gathered more than 300 participants, including the President of the Republic of Bulgaria and the President of Malta.

Reaching the heights for the rights of the child

The Council of Europe Strategy for the Rights of the Child was launched at the high-level conference "Reaching the Heights for the Rights of the Child", organised within the framework of the Bulgarian Chairmanship of the Committee of Ministers, and hosted by the Ministry of Labour and Social Policy and the State Agency for Child Protection of Bulgaria. The conference provided a platform for representatives of member States and other stakeholders to find new ways to co-operate in implementing the Strategy over the years to come.

The conference gathered more than 300 participants, including the President of the Republic of Bulgaria and the President of Malta. A total of 17 Ministers and Deputy Ministers as well as high-level representatives of other international organisations expressed their commitments to the rights of the child. There were delegations from 44 Council of Europe member States, ombudspersons for children, NGOs, academic experts, and – very importantly – 10 young delegates. These were between 14 and 17 years old and actively participated in the entire conference alongside the adult participants. Their clear and focused messages were highly appreciated by all participants. For more information and to consult all conference documents, please click here.

FAST FACTS

The evaluation of the conference showed that 92% of the respondents rated the overall organisation "excellent" or "very good".

Ad-hoc Committee for the Rights of the Child

A new intergovernmental committee will guide the Council of Europe's work in the area of the rights of the child. The Ad hoc Committee for the Rights of the Child (CAHENF) will oversee the implementation of the Council of Europe Strategy for the Rights of the Child, promote mainstreaming of children's rights, develop standards and/or policy guidance on priority areas (ie. guardianship and age determination, statelessness, children's rights in the digital environment) and facilitate exchanges of knowledge and good practices. The first meeting of the CAHENF takes place on 28-29 September 2016 in Strasbourg.

White Paper: The future of an integrated child protection system in Albania

The White Paper includes guidance on the development of an integrated, comprehensive and effective child protection system in Albania, by establishing accountable governance mechanisms with well-defined roles and responsibilities in the child protection system, developing effective mechanisms and measures to prevent and respond to violence against children, and ensuring that all children have access to child-friendly services.

This paper was developed in the context of the Council of Europe Strategy for the Rights of the Child in order to assist and guide the Albanian authorities in their efforts to strengthen their domestic child protection system.

World Humanitarian Summit: Protection of the Rights of the Child at the Heart of the Council of Europe Commitment

Attending the World Humanitarian Summit in Istanbul, Secretary General Thorbjørn Jagland made a commitment on behalf of the Council of Europe which aims at prioritising the protection of the rights of refugees and asylum seekers across the Council of Europe's 47 member States.

Commissioner for Human Rights' 1st Quarterly Activity Report for 2016

The protection of the rights of children is high on the agenda of the Commissioner for Human Rights. He regularly visits care institutions, schools, facilities where children are detained, places where children live in precarious conditions, and organisations providing services to children. He addresses recommendations to national authorities on how they could improve their records on children's rights.

He has identified three areas of concern to which he devotes specific attention: 1) the persisting problem of statelessness among children in various member States; 2) the still widespread practice of placing some groups of children, including Roma and children with disabilities, in segregated educational settings; and 3) the human rights situation of migrant children, especially unaccompanied minor migrants.

ECRI Recommends Governments to Ensure that all Practices Affecting Irregularly Present Migrants are Developed in the Light of the Obligation to Respect Children's Rights

The European Commission against Racism and Intolerance (ECRI) issued in May 2016 a new set of policy recommendations to States to support them in addressing a pressing issue of discrimination against individuals – women, men and children - who do not, or no longer, fulfill the conditions under national law for entry or stay in a member State of the Council of Europe.

ECRI calls on States to comply with their specific obligations in relation to irregularly present migrant children and guarantee them access to education, immunisation, paediatric care and adequate shelter.
