I. Introduction

The European Landscape Convention was adopted by the Committee of Ministers of the Council of Europe on 19 July 2000 in Strasbourg and opened for signature of the Member States of the Organisation in Florence (Italy) on 20 October 2000, with the aims to promote European landscape protection, management and planning, and to organise European co-operation. It is the first international treaty to be exclusively devoted to all aspects of European landscape. The Convention applies to the entire territory of the Parties and covers natural, rural, urban and peri-urban areas. It concerns landscapes that might be considered outstanding as well as everyday or degraded landscapes.

The Preamble of the European Landscape Convention states that the member States of the Council of Europe signatory “wish to respond to the public’s wish to enjoy high quality landscapes and to play an active part in the development of landscapes”. The Convention stipulates that the “Landscape quality objectives” means, for a specific landscape, the formulation by the competent public authorities of “the aspirations of the public with regard to the landscape features of their surroundings” (Article 1, c. – Definitions).

Moreover, each Party undertakes to “establish procedures for the participation of the general public, local and regional authorities, and other parties with an interest in the definition and implementation of the landscape policies” (Article 5, c. – General measures). The Recommendation CM/Rec\(2008\)3 of the Committee of Ministers to member states on the guidelines for the implementation of the European Landscape Convention considers the scope of this participation.

1. Working Group of the European Landscape Convention “Landscape and Democracy”

According to the Work Programme of the European Landscape Convention for 2015-2017, the Steering Committee for Culture, Heritage and Landscape (CDCPP) at its 4th Meeting, Strasbourg, 1-3 June 2015 [\[CDCPP\(2015\)15\]](#), decided of the “establishment of a working group, supported by expertise, on ‘Landscape and democracy’ to follow up the report ‘Landscape and democracy: prospects’, in order to prepare an issue paper (taking into consideration the contribution of natural and cultural heritage and culture, as an expression of the social, economic, ecological, cultural and spatial diversity and identity of territories)”.

The Working Group of the European Landscape Convention “Landscape and Democracy” is chaired by Mrs Liv Kirstine Mortensen (Norway), Chair of the Council of Europe Conference on the European Landscape Convention. The reports and working documents of the meetings are available on the Website of the Council of Europe <http://www.coe.int/EuropeanLandscapeConvention> / Meetings / Working Groups / Working Group on the European Landscape Convention “Landscape and democracy”:
