A. Terms of reference / Table of fees

The Council of Europe is currently implementing a project to Support the implementation of Barnahus (Children's House), phase II in Slovenia. Barnahus is a leading European model for a child-friendly multidisciplinary and interagency response to child sexual exploitation and abuse. Among its expected results, the project aims to increase awareness of professionals and the wider public on the phenomenon of child sexual abuse in Slovenia. The project is implemented in close collaboration with the Ministry of Justice in Slovenia and co-financed by the European Union Structural Reform Support Services.

In this context, the Project is recruiting a Provider to carry out quantitative and qualitative research among adults and children in Slovenia. In particular, the Provider is responsible for carrying out:

- Quantitative research (adults only) which would establish a benchmark on Slovenia's understanding of child sexual exploitation and abuse at the start of the implementation of the project.
 - The quantitative research would include questions about awareness of the existence of child sexual exploitation and abuse; how to identify if a child has been victimised; where and how to report a suspected child abuse case; which tools would be helpful in better detecting and understanding child sexual abuse; etc.
- Qualitative research (children and parents separately) would dig deeper into these subjects.
 - The research would help to inform: the communication tools and materials used to explain/encourage reporting as well as general awareness raising, the approach used by professionals to communicate with child victims, etc.
 - While the nature of the questions is not aimed at sharing personal stories, it is possible, given the context, that a child may disclose a case of abuse. Any such case should always be referred to relevant national authorities and professionals in line with the national legislation in Slovenia. This will be ensured by the project.

Further specifications:

Quantitative research:

- Sample size: N=1000 completed interviews among a national representative sample of adults in Slovenia (accurate representation of the adult population of Slovenia) of which minimum N=100 are victims of child sexual abuse.
- Questionnaire (10-15 minutes; open ended and closed ended questions): Draft, translate into English for approvals.
- Recruitment: Order sample and recruit for N=1000 completes
- Fieldwork supervision and quality control
- Please specify which of CAPI (computer assisted personal interviews) or CAWI (computer assisted web interviews), or combination of both, would be recommended
- Analyse the research and provide report in English and Slovenian.

Qualitative research:

- Conduct 4 focus groups: 2 with only children aged 12-18 years, 2 with only adults (incl. notably parents with children under 18 years living at home, this is not related to the children identified for the focus groups mentioned above).
- If possible, focus group facilities should be organised in a child-friendly environment in 2 different regions of Slovenia.
- Translate and provide any feedback on the moderator's guide.
- Provide the venues, Slovenian moderator (moderator must be able to converse in English), simultaneous translation, web-link or two-way mirror for observation
- Recruit all participants to ensure N=8 per group.
- 1.5 – 2 hour focus groups
- Provide incentives for participants.

- Research would take place in the Spring 2020, exact dates to be confirmed
