

Eugenia Caracciolo di Torella

Dottore in Giurisprudenza (Bologna) 1993; LLM (Durham) 1995; PhD (Durham) 2000.

Eugenia is an Associate Professor at the Leicester Law School where she teaches on the LLB programme Family Law, as well as two innovative options close to her research interests: Law and Gender and Caring and the Law.

At the University of Leicester, she is also the Equality Officer and the Gender Lead in the Law School as well as the Portfolio Holder of the Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Committee of the College of Social Science Arts and Humanity.

Eugenia's main interest is the impact of the principle of gender equality on various aspects of law and policy at both domestic and EU level. Her research largely relies upon a socio-legal approach. She is particularly interested in the policies and legislation for the reconciliation of work and family life, an area where she has published extensively.

Recent publications include Caring Responsibilities in Europe: Who Cares?, Routledge, 2020 (with Annick Masselot); 'La directive de 2019 sur l'équilibre entre vie professionnelle et vie privée : une nouvelle étape franchie', (2020) 3 Revue de Droit Comparé du Travail et de la Sécurité Sociale 8-19 and 'The Principle of Gender Mainstreaming. Possibilities and Challenges' in The EU and the Proliferation of Integration Principles under the Lisbon Treaty, Ippolito, Bartoloni, Condinanzi (eds.) (Routledge, 2018) 45-54.
