About Vilnius

The Cathedral Square is the main square of the Vilnius Old Town, right in front of the neo-classical Vilnius Cathedral. It is a key location in the city's public life, situated as it is at the crossing of the city's main streets and reflecting the city's diversity. Regularly held at this site are fairs and gatherings of townspeople, military parades, religious and official public events, attractions and large concerts, Christmas tree and exhibitions. It is not merely the most lively and important location in the city but is also one of the most significant and widely known symbols of Lithuania.

Gediminas' Tower is the only remaining part of the Upper Castle. It is possible to climb to the top of the hill on foot. The tower houses an exposition of archeologic findings from the hill and the surrounding areas. It is also an excellent vantage point, from where the panorama of Vilnius' Old Town can be admired. Gediminas' Tower is an important state and historic symbol of the city of Vilnius and of Lithuania itself. It is mentioned in numerous Lithuanian patriotic poems and folk songs. The Flag of Lithuania was re-hoisted atop the tower on October 7, 1988, during the independence movement that was finalized by the Act of the Re-Establishment of the State of Lithuania on March 11, 1990. A reconstruction of the Royal Palace of Lithuania was completed in 2009 and is located near the base of the hill upon which Gediminas' Tower stands.

The Gate of Dawn is a city-gate of Vilnius, the capital of Lithuania, and one of the most important religious, historical and cultural monuments in the city. In the 16th century city gates often contained religious artifacts intended to guard the city from attacks and to bless travellers. The Chapel in the Gate of Dawn contains an icon of The Blessed Virgin Mary Mother of Mercy, said to have miraculous powers. For centuries the picture has been one of the symbols of the city and an object of veneration for both Roman Catholic and Orthodox inhabitants.

The Presidential Palace is located in Vilnius Old Town. It is the official office and occasional official residence of the President of Lithuania. The palace dates back to the 14th century. During its history it has undergone various reconstructions, supervised by prominent architects, including Laurynas Gucevičius and Vasily Stasov. In 1997 the palace became the official seat of the President of Lithuania.

St. Anne's Church is a Roman Catholic church in Vilnius' Old Town, on the right bank of the Vilnia River. It is a prominent example of both Flamboyant Gothic and Brick Gothic styles. St. Anne's is a major landmark in the Old Town of Vilnius that enabled the district to be included in the list of UNESCO World Heritage sites.
