SG-AS (2023) 02

31 January 2023

Communication by the Secretary General of the Parliamentary Assembly at the 1455th meeting of the Ministers' Deputies* (1 February 2023)

* This document covers the activities of the Assembly since the meeting of the Bureau on 23 January 2023 and future activities up to the meeting of the Bureau on 2 March 2023 (The Hague).

I. First part of the Ordinary Session of 2023 (23 - 27 January 2023)

A. Assembly's response to the Russian Federation's aggression against Ukraine

Two key texts dealing with the consequences of the Russian Federation's aggression against Ukraine were adopted during the first part-session of 2023 of the Parliamentary Assembly:

Legal and human rights aspects of the Russian Federation's aggression against Ukraine

In Resolution 2482\(2023\) based on a report by Mr Damien Cottier (Switzerland, ALDE), the Assembly unanimously demanded the setting up of a special international criminal tribunal to prosecute Russian and Belarusian political and military leaders who planned, prepared, initiated or executed Russian Federation's war of aggression against Ukraine. The Assembly stressed that such a tribunal should be endorsed and supported by as many states and international organisations as possible, and in particular by the United Nations General Assembly.

The Assembly also added that the Russian Federation should make reparation for the injuries and losses caused by its wrongful acts. Parliamentarians therefore called for an international compensation mechanism for Ukraine, open to all like-minded states, including as a first step an international register of damage and later a commission to adjudicate claims and a compensation fund.

The debate was opened by the address of Ms Oleksandra Matviichuk, the head of Ukrainian human rights NGO Center for Civil Liberties, which was awarded the 2022 Nobel Peace Prize.

Conflict-related sexual violence

Resolution 2476\(2023\) paid particular attention to the situation in Ukraine. The Assembly recognised that the aggression of the Russian Federation against Ukraine led to mass conflict-related sexual violence committed by the Russian Federation's armed forces and by affiliated armed groups against the civilian population of Ukraine and Ukrainian prisoners of war. Among other key recommendations, it urged member States to:

- ensure that solid and safe procedures for reporting sexual violence are in place in peacetime, following the provisions of the Istanbul Convention, in order for these to be operational when applied to sexual violence in conflict-related situations;
- make sure that survivors of sexual violence are offered safe spaces for exchanging on their experiences, that witnesses are given adequate protection, that the different services involved in evidence collection use technological means admissible in courts to record evidence and are co-ordinated in order to avoiding obliging witnesses to repeat testimonies, thus avoiding re-traumatisation;
- support, including financially, the development of electronic tools for survivors to record evidence of gender-based violence themselves, in particular during conflict, for instance the "Backup" application developed and piloted by the We Are NOT Weapons Of War NGO;
- ensure that the police are trained and habilitated to receive evidence at local levels, without requiring higher levels of police and jurisdictional intervention at the first stages of judicial procedures.

B. Assembly's contribution to the Reykjavik Summit

On 24 January 2023, approving Recommendation 2245\(2023\) based on a report by Ms Fiona O'Loughlin (Ireland, ALDE), the Assembly set out its proposals for the Reykjavik Summit of Heads of State and Government from the 46 Council of Europe States to be held on 16-17 May. Pointing out that Europe currently faced extraordinary challenges, the Assembly called on governments, among other things, to:

- reaffirm the Council of Europe's role as a beacon for human rights, democracy and the rule of law, and as a community of values with a pan-European vocation;
- show unwavering support for Ukraine and play an active and leading role in creating an ad hoc tribunal to prosecute Russia's political and military leadership for the crime of aggression, as well as supporting an international compensation mechanism;
- strengthen the impact of the Council of Europe's work on democracy, including by creating a democracy checklist for states and establishing a Council of Europe Commissioner for Democracy and the Rule of Law;
- put the interests, concerns and expectations of people back at the forefront of the Council of Europe's work, and mainstream a youth perspective in all its activities;

- take the lead on environmental protection and tackling climate change, and support a framework to guarantee the right to clean, healthy and sustainable environment.

On 26 January 2023, the Joint Committee held an exchange of views on the Reykjavik Summit, with the participation of the Prime Minister of Iceland, Ms Katrin Jakobsdóttir.

The Assembly, and in particular the rapporteur of the Committee on Political Affairs and Democracy, Ms Fiona O'Loughlin, will continue to follow the matter, to work closely with the Icelandic Presidency, and to make its calls and proposals better heard in the months leading up to the Summit. The Assembly will hold an extraordinary meeting of the Standing Committee in Reykjavik, on 15 May 2023, on the eve of the Summit, in order to provide a parliamentary dimension to the Summit

C. Election of the President of the Assembly

Two candidatures for the post of President of the Assembly were received, respectively, Mr Tiny Kox (Netherlands, UEL) and Mr Oleksandr Merezhko (Ukraine, EC/DA). On 23 January 2023, as a result of a secret ballot, Mr Tiny Kox was re-elected President of the Assembly for the 2023 Ordinary Session. He shall remain in office until the opening of the next Ordinary Session.

D. Election of the Vice-Presidents of the Assembly

On 23 January 2023, the Assembly elected its Vice-Presidents (Appendix 1).

E. Election of Chairpersons and Vice-Chairpersons of the Committees of the Assembly

H. Current affairs debates and debate under urgent procedure

The Assembly held two current affairs debate on Recent tensions between Pristina and Belgrade and on Addressing the humanitarian consequences of the blockade of the Latchin corridor.

The Assembly also held a debate under urgent procedure on Legal and human rights aspects of the Russian Federation's aggression against Ukraine.

I. Media coverage

The Winter Session 2023 of the Parliamentary Assembly generated considerable media coverage, with 78 journalists present in Strasbourg to report on it, and around 275 articles (provisional figures) appearing in the international press. The spread of the session's coverage and its geographic distribution largely corresponded to the highlights of the session, with its bulk coming from Ukraine, Armenia, Azerbaijan and Germany.

The best covered item on the plenary's agenda was the address by German Foreign Minister Annalena Baerbock. Her speech was widely quoted, in particular in the German press, with a further wave of articles published in Germany and several other countries focusing on reactions to her comments on the ongoing war against Ukraine (AFP, Reuters, Euronews, The Guardian, Yahoo News, Newsweek, DW, Die Weltwoche, Bild, TAZ, ANSA, NZZ International, Kommersant, VG.hu, Mandiner, The Budapest Times, HINA, NTB, etc.).

The debate under urgent procedure on legal and human rights aspects of Russia's aggression against Ukraine was also in the headlines. The Associated Press highlighted the statement by Oleksandra Matviichuk, the head of Ukrainian human rights NGO Center for Civil Liberties and the 2022 Nobel Peace Prize laureate (Associated Press, AFP, SDA/ATS, Lusa, BNS, UNIAN, Ukrinform, UNN, Liga.net, Evropeyskaya Pravda, Slovo i dilo, Ukrinform, TSN, Ukrinform, etc.).

The election of the President of the Assembly and of its Vice-presidents and Committee chairpersons, as well as the current affairs debates on the recent tensions between Pristina and Belgrade and on the humanitarian consequences of the blockade of the Latchin corridor were also largely covered regionally.

As regards the Assembly's social media output, there were around 272,000 impressions on Twitter, a total reach of around 27,000 on Facebook, and about 7,000 views on the YouTube channel, amounting to just over 500 hours of "watch time". The Assembly's unanimous demand for a special tribunal to try Russian and Belarusian leaders for aggression had the most impact, accounting for the top four tweets. The 'Red Dress project' also featured well on Facebook. On YouTube, German Foreign Minister Baerbock's speech on Tuesday took top spot, followed by the debate on the Latchin corridor on Thursday, driven in part by a number of Armenian news websites which embedded the livestream.

Twelve interviews with parliamentarians were produced by the MediaBox and subsequently published on the PACE website and social media supports.
