

Statement of Interpretation on Article 7§3

The Committee recalled its previous interpretation of paragraph 3 of Article 7 (Conclusions I (1969), Statement of Interpretation on Article 7§3) that this provision of the Charter obliges governments to take specific measures, in particular to set a maximum permitted length of work carried out by minors before or after school hours. It was also of the opinion that these specific measures should restrict the permitted types of work to kinds of light work laid down in national regulations.
