

Statement of Interpretation on Article 19§6

The Committee considered that the term "worker" as used in the Charter applied equally to female workers except in cases where the context demands a different interpretation. Consequently the definition of the family of a migrant worker appearing in the Appendix of the Charter includes the children (but not the husband) of a female worker.