

(i) describe the main problematics in your country concerning the independence, the accountability and the ethics of prosecutors;

- It should be emphasized that there is no full independence of the prosecutor without financial independence. Financial independence should result in the creation of material prerequisites for all prosecutors to have the same high quality working conditions, but also to enable them to be constantly educated

- financial independence should also apply to the question of pension conditions under which prosecutors are retiring. Namely, prosecutors should be provided with a retirement pension, which corresponds to their work, but also to the growth in living expenses and living conditions for the time they are retired.

(ii) indicate which recommendations in relation to this topic would need to be included in a CCPE Opinion addressed to all European countries.

- Financial independence as the basis of quality conditions for work and education

- Creating conditions for safe and quality retirement
