I. Main achievements

This chapter presents short summaries of a selection of the main reforms and achievements reported in final resolutions since the Convention system was amended in 1998 by Protocol No. 11, with a clear focus on recent reforms, referring however also to important earlier developments.

In view of the wealth of cases closed, the selection concentrates on those which have led to changes of legislation, government regulations, the adoption of new policies or general guidance from superior courts. As a rule, the overview does not cover information on measures providing individual redress to applicants.

The reforms are in principle presented in the order corresponding to the thematic domains used in the specialised database HUDOC-EXEC of the Department for the Execution of Judgments of the European Court of Human Rights.

Many reforms address issues which appear to be on-going challenges in member states. The effects of reforms adopted at one point in time may thus need to be monitored and possibly revisited as conditions change.¹

Definitions of the terms used in the context of the supervision of the execution of the European Court's judgments are available in the dedicated Glossary.

► Actions of security forces - Right to life and ill-treatment Domestic remedies were improved, in particular by the codification in the State Liability Act (2013) of a right to compensation for unlawful state action and the strengthening of state liability in case of violations of the right to life or prohibition of torture.	Kochetkov (41653/05) Final Resolution CM/ResDH(2013)9
► Actions of security forces and effective investigations Reforms, notably through legislative measures in 2010, ensured that the use of force during arrests and other interventions by security forces must be proportionate. These measures included more precise instructions, notably as regards the use of lethal force and dangerous immobilisation techniques. They were complemented by extensive professional training. The independence of investigations is guaranteed, as pre-trial investigations are carried out by the investigative bodies of the Ministry of Interior under the supervision of the Director General of the Police and Border Guards Board unconnected with operational activities, while the prosecutor's office belongs to the Ministry of Justice and ensures the legality and efficiency of investigations. In addition, a right to damages is available in case of abuse by security forces.	Korobov and Others (10195/08+) Final resolution CM/ResDH(2016)105 Mihailov (64418/10) Final resolution CM/ResDH(2017)365
► Conditions of detention The Imprisonment Act was amended in 2024 to shorten the maximum solitary confinement sanction and thus ensure that the time served consecutively in a punishment cell shall not exceed 14 days, which is also the maximum number of days allowed for a single disciplinary cell punishment to be imposed. For minors the time spent in a punishment cell shall not exceed three consecutive days.	Schmidt and Smigol (3501/20) Final Resolution CM/ResDH(2025)11
► Right to liberty and security An arrested person may claim compensation for unjust detention under the Unjust Deprivation of Liberty (Compensation) Act if the person concerned is not brought before a judge within 48 hours. In addition, an explicit right to compensation was granted in the State Liability Act in case activities of a public authority have been established to be contrary to the Convention by the European Court. The review of the lawfulness of pre-trial detention was improved in 2014, allowing suspects to request access to relevant parts of the casefile.	Harkmann and Bergmann (2192/03+) Final Resolution CM/ResDH(2010)158 Ovsjannikov (1346/12) Final Resolution CM/ResDH(2015)136
► Functioning of justice ► Fairness of proceedings According to an amendment to the Code of Criminal Procedure in 2011, courts can refuse a party's request to summon a minor to a hearing in cases related to sexual abuse or domestic violence; the testimony given by a minor during the pre-trial procedure can be allowed as evidence only in certain circumstances. According to amendments to the Code of Misdemeanour Procedure adopted in 2017 the counsel may request the appeal hearing to take place without the presence of the appellant. ► Access to court The protection of third parties' rights in criminal proceedings has been reinforced by legislative amendments of 2015.	Vronchenko (59632/09) Final Resolution CMResDH(2016)309 Tolmachev (73748/13) Final Resolution CM/ResDH(2018)43 Rummi (63362/09) Final Resolution CM/ResDH(2016)59

➡ No punishment without law Legal certainty was improved as a result of the repeal of a provision imposing criminal liability in cases where certain acts had caused what was vaguely referred to as “significant damage to the State”.	Liivik (12157/05) Final Resolution CM/ResDH(2010)157
➡ Protection of private life ➤ Acquisition, use, disclosure or retention of private information Guarantees were introduced to oblige the Security Service to use the proportionality test in the application of the “Disclosure Act” before publishing any information on a person, who had been in the service of the security authorities or the intelligence or counter-intelligence authorities of the former USSR and the Estonian SSR. ➤ Secret surveillance A 2013 amendment of the Code of Criminal Procedure foresees that the use of information obtained by surveillance activities as evidence requires prior authorisation and that their conduct be in compliance with domestic law. The Supreme Court changed its case-law in 2017, stressing that judicial ex post control cannot eliminate the inadmissibility of evidence obtained without prior, sufficiently reasoned authorisations. Moreover, under the terms of the 2015 Compensation of Damage Caused in Offence Proceedings Act, compensation may also be requested for damages caused by unlawful surveillance activities. ➤ Family life In 2025, the Annual Plenary of Estonian Judges amended the 2015 Good Practice guidelines on judicial procedure. They decided that when courts cannot process all cases promptly, family-related civil cases must be prioritised. The updated guidelines stress urgent handling of matters involving minors or guardianship, including the appointment of guardians for minors or adults with limited capacity, custody and adoption cases, disputes about paternity or maintenance, and transactions made on behalf of minors or adults with limited capacity. Additionally, the Supreme Court clarified how the Estonian Family Law Act should be applied in similar cases. It held that both the child’s interests and those of the biological parent must be balanced when deciding on adoption or its annulment. If a biological parent has sufficiently indicated the possibility of being recognised as such by a court, their views must be considered under the Family Act - even if parenthood is not yet officially registered. Alternatively, proceedings should be suspended until biological parenthood is established.	Sõro (22588/08) Final resolution CM/ResDH(2017)152 Liblik and Others (173/15+) Final Resolution CM/ResDH(2021)58 I.V. (37031/21) Final Resolution CM/ResDH(2025)356
➡ Freedom of expression ➤ Prisoners’ right to receive information The Imprisonment Act was amended in 2019, enabling prisoners to access public legislation databases and registers of judicial decisions, the webpages of Parliament and the Chancellor of Justice.	Kalda (1574/13) Final Resolution CM/ResDH(2019)109

The Council of Europe is the continent's leading human rights organisation. It comprises 46 member states, including all members of the European Union. The Committee of Ministers is the Council of Europe's decision-making body, composed by the foreign ministers of all 46 member states. It is a forum where national approaches to European problems and challenges are discussed, in order to find collective responses. The Committee of Ministers participates in the implementation of the European Convention on Human Rights through the supervision of the execution of judgments of the European Court of Human Rights.
