An Internet pedophile ring with up to 70,000 members — thought to be the world's largest — has been uncovered by police, a security official said Wednesday.

The European police agency Europol said in a statement that "Operation Rescue" had identified 670 suspects and that 230 abused children in 30 countries had been taken to safety. More children are expected to be found, Europol said.

It said that so far 184 people had been arrested and investigations in some countries were continuing. Most of those detained are suspected of direct involvement in sexually abusing children.

This map depicts the volume of reports submitted predominantly by U.S.-based Electronic Service Providers to NCMEC's CyberTipline in accordance with 18 U.S.C. 2258A. Online companies report incidents of "apparent child pornography" and may include geographic indicators related to the incident. These geographical indicators may be affected by the use of proxies and anonymizers. This map is generated for informational purposes only.
