Methodology for the calculation of the CEPEJ Information and Communication Technologies (ICT) indices

Structure of the ICT questionnaire

The CEPEJ questionnaire includes 38 questions relating to Information and Communication Technologies (ICT), structured according to 3 groups:

- Questions related to the organisation of ICT (7 questions)
- Questions relating to electronic case processing tools (24 questions)
- Questions relating to other tools (7 questions)

Only the 24 questions relating to electronic case processing, ranging from number 062-08 to 062-31, are taken into account in the calculation of the ICT indices.

These 24 questions are divided into 11 groups of 2 or 3 questions each, addressing a particular type of tool:

Question groups	Categories of ICT index	Points	Question Coefficient
Electronic Submission of cases	Digital access to justice	29	1
Sending e-documents to court	Digital access to justice	28,5	1
Electronic Notifications	Digital access to justice	31,5	1
Online consultation of cases	Digital access to justice	29	1
Organisation of remote hearing	Digital access to justice	18	1,5
Electronic archives	Case management	3	1
Case management system (CMS)	Case management	30,5	2
Writing assistance tools	Decision support	13,5	1
Tool for recording hearings	Decision support	18	0,5
Courts decisions database	Decision support	33,8	0,5
Statistical tools for analysis of court cases	Case management	57	1

Types of questions

There are two types of questions:

- Questions related to deployment and usage rates:
- Questions about functionalities.

Further to that each question is split in three sections for each matter (civil, criminal and administrative).

The ICT Indices

There are several different indexes that are calculated both for deployment and utilisation, the second still being in testing phase due to difficulty in receiving accurate estimations. The main index is the total ICT index but there are also indices calculated per matter (civil, criminal and administrative) and per category (digital access to justice, case management and decision support). The calculation process starts by converting the qualitative data collected through the questionnaire into adequate numeric representation (weights) for each question included in the index.

Deployment and usage rate weighting

Each of the 11 groups mentioned above starts with a question about the deployment and usage rates of the tool in question. The answer to this question is fundamental because it provides the weight that will then be multiplied by the points obtained in the questions related to functionalities. Below is an overview table with weights applied according to the selected rate:

Rate selected	Weight applied
95-100 %	1
75-95 %	0,8
50-75 %	0,6
25-50 %	0,4
1-25 %	0,2
0 %	0
NA	0

Note that some options in this table result in a coefficient of zero, cancelling the benefit of any points earned in the following questions on functionalities.

Special treatment of the usage rate

As part of the 2024 CEPEJ evaluation cycle, based on the 2022 data, national correspondents were asked to provide information on the usage rates of existing tools. For example, if a tool is deployed 50% but used by 100% of the users where deployed, the reported usage rate is 100%. In order to estimate the actual rate of use at the level of the judicial system, the CEPEJ multiplies the coefficient obtained for the deployment rate by the coefficient obtained for the reported usage rate, in order to take into account the sectors in which the tool concerned is not yet deployed.

Functionalities

The second type of question addresses the existing functionalities in the tool concerned. Each feature is awarded a certain number of points. Depending on the question, the accumulation of points is done in 3 different ways:

- Sum: the points of all selected options are added together
- Maximum: only the points of the best selected option are included

• Average: the average of the points is retained

Question Coefficient

A coefficient (see table above) is assigned to each of the 11 groups of questions, determining the importance given to the tool concerned. This coefficient is multiplied by the points obtained.

Final construction of the index/Normalisation

From each of the calculation elements presented above and the details of the points per question a total sum for a country is calculated. In addition to the main total, other subtotals are constructed per matter (civil, criminal and administrative) and per category (digital access to justice, decision support and case management). Finally, these totals are normalised in relation to a theoretical model representing the maximum number of points that can be achieved. This is calculation is done as a simple a ratio that is then multiplied by 10, to provide a score on a 10-point scale.

Simulator/Calculator

For better understanding of the effect of different answers on the questions you can use our calculator/simulator and calculate the index for your country. You can download this tool on the CEPEJ website.
