

EXEMPLARY VALUE

Dokumapark Natwe - Culture and Art Park has become a pioneer example of a project that safeguards it's historical values and heritage.

The project is of exemplary level. This is because it is the first project in Turkey that is home to cultural and natural heritages that moni-tores the protection and preservation of th area in its totality. The fruits of this project has been given in its first two years.

The presence of different museums, art galleries, libraries, natural park and arboretums and the availability of multiple social and sport spaces has been arranged to compliment one another and this is a one of a kind example of the presence of such a landscape arrange-ment.

A number of academics and representatives of cultural heritage pres-ervation institutions have stated that Dokumapark serves as an ex-emplary model as a whole in it's succesful function of sustainability and accessibility. The record number of visitors and prizes received also compliment this statement of success.

The project has recieved a lot of awards

This space which was left to decay through neglect has been reanimated to meet the needs and elevate the quality stand-ards of its surrounding thanks to the collaborations of the diverse parties involved.

AWARENESS - RAISING

The project serves to display succesful results in raising awareness and improve development in participation concerning the health and wellbeing of society, to strengthen the consolidation of the European identity in terms of individual and societal welfare and to raise awareness of the importance of landscape in the eyes of the public opinion.

What is available in this landscape and originally in the soul of Dokumapark is the natural and cultural aspects that are located in unity of the landscape which is accesible to the public to immerse themselves in by the senses of sight, smell and touch to raise the awareness of the significance of landscape related to public and thus individual wellbeing.

It raises awareness on the importance of the location to society and encourages the need for more projects resembling Dokumapark.

This project has achieved a significant amount of the European Landscape Awards criterium. The awareness of the public has been improved with this project. The sustainability conditions of the historic and cultural structures has been improved allowing growth in the local development opportunities. By the contribution of the public and other parties the goals and defining features of the landscape has been decided, making the process unique. By finding a ommon ground and common working method the project has received a lot of awards.
