DESCRIPTION

At the Andorran Vocational Education and Training School (CFP), the new Internal Regulations Act establish a framework for learners' voice and participation through which learners can practice competences related to civic participation and social interaction through:

- the Student Council, with has a consultative capacity and effective functioning;
- projects related to the development of democratic citizenship and digital citizenship competences.

The main objective of these activities is to promote civic participation and social interaction competences among VET learners, and more specifically these activities aim at:

- Encouraging active participation through the consultative role of the Student Council;
- Developing competences for democratic culture and digital citizenship competences;
- Promoting the responsible use of social media and information.

Learning active citizenship, digital citizenship competences, and the responsible use of social media are competences needed to be learnt in order to obtain any VET diploma.

The institutional participation in the Student Council and the development of democratic citizenship competences are important links of education for democratic citizenship in the context of the Andorran VET system.
