

Best Practice Programme in Promoting Academic Integrity

WHAT IS THE BEST PRACTICE PROGRAMME IN PROMOTING ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Based on the ETINED principles, the aim of the programme is to identify, publicly recognise and disseminate relevant practices in promoting academic integrity throughout higher education institutions in Europe.

WHY A BEST PRACTICE PROGRAMME IN PROMOTING ACADEMIC INTEGRITY?

Ethics, transparency and integrity are prerequisite conditions for quality education.

Promoting academic integrity helps to protect the quality of academic and/or professional qualifications and credentials and is thus fundamental to the credibility of higher education institutions.

Promoting academic integrity and ethical principles and behaviours instils integrity-based practices in graduates and helps to develop a culture of democracy and participation in education institutions.

Good practices help raise awareness of academic integrity and also increases the motivation and knowledge of how to protect and uphold integrity.

HOW WILL THE PROGRAMME BE CARRIED OUT?

A public call with different theme(s) will be published every year. For the first cycle of 2021, there is a focus on solutions found to promote academic integrity during the COVID-19 health crisis in the following categories:

- ▶ Teaching and learning
- ▶ Policy
- ▶ Procedures
- ▶ Communication
- ▶ Governance/structures
- ▶ Training

Responding to this call will give higher education institutions the opportunity to showcase and publicise their practices, resulting in increased attention for, and possible adoption of, the practices in other Council of Europe member States.

WHO CAN APPLY?

Public and private higher education institutions recognised as belonging to the education system of one of the 50 States parties to the European Cultural Convention¹

Student unions associated with higher education institutions of the States parties to the European Cultural Convention.
