1. Judicial organisation in Romania (2022 data)

In Romania there are 4-court levels: first instance courts (judecatorii), tribunals (tribunale), courts of appeal (curti de apel) and the High Court of Cassation and Justice (HCCJ). First instance courts (judecatorii) have a general jurisdiction and most of the cases start at this level. The appeals against the decisions of the first instance courts in civil matters are decided at the tribunals. The appeals in criminal matters against the decisions of the first instance courts are decided at the courts of appeal. More important cases may start at tribunals or at the courts of appeal and the appeals against the decisions of these courts are decided by higher courts. It is noteworthy that, according to the law, in Romania there are two types of appeal: first appeal which is an appeal on the merits and second appeal which is an appeal on the law ("recurs").

In Romania there are 175 judecatorii, first instance courts of general jurisdiction.

The number of „judecatorii” has decreased by one between 2019-2020 because the activity of Judecătoria Insuratei was suspended so it no longer appears in the statistics. The number 175 represents the first instance courts with general jurisdiction, even if tribunals, courts of appeal and the High Court may also judge first instance cases.

Starting from 2020, the methodology of presentation of data changed and only “judecatorii” are counted as first instance courts of general jurisdiction.

It should also be mentioned that some of the first instance specialised courts share the location with "judecatorii".

Distribution of first instance general jurisdiction and specialised courts

The distribution between first instance general jurisdiction courts and first instance specialised courts in Romania is 95,6% - 4,4% (distribution tendency in EU: 72,8% - 27,2%).

Compared with the EU distribution of professional judges per instance, Romania has different distribution of judges among instances. While the percentage of first instance judges is well below the EU median, the percentage of second instance judges is more than twice the EU Median. Moreover, the percentage of Supreme court judges is below the EU median.

In Romania, there are four levels of courts (first instance courts, tribunals, courts of appeal and the High Court of Cassation and Justice). Only judges of the first instance court „judecatorii” are counted as first instance judges. Judges from tribunals and courts of appeal are included in the category "second instance professional judges", even if according to the procedural provisions in terms of competences tribunals may judge both as first and second instance court and for certain procedural circumstances (material and personal) even the courts of appeal may judge in first instance. Moreover, even the High Court can judge in first instance for example in criminal cases according to the personal competence rules of procedure.

As regards the distribution male/Female judges, it should be noticed that in Romania there is a very high percentage of female judges in all instances (71,2 % in first instance courts, 72,6% in second instance courts and 77,0% in Supreme courts).

2nd instance	2 271	NAP	NAP	NAP	NAP

In Romania, the distribution of judges per categories of cases is not possible since its statistical system does not collect information regarding a breakdown in the number of judges based on the different legal matters.

Court presidents

Absolute number of court presidents by instance and gender

Court presidents 2022	Total	Distribution by instance	Male	Female	% Male	% Female
1st instance	161	71,9%	67	94	41,6%	58,4%
2nd instance	62	27,7%	25	37	40,3%	59,7%
Supreme court	1	0,4%	0	1	0,0%	100,0%
Total	224		92	132	41,1%	58,9%

In this cycle, the total number of female court presidents (all instances) is 132, which represents 58,9% of the total number of court presidents.

The total number of court presidents is distributed among the different judicial instances in the following way: 161 are sitting in first instance courts (of which 94 are female); 62 are sitting in second instance courts (of which 37 are female) and 1 female judge is sitting in the Supreme Court.

Against the background of the data provided for the last three evaluations, it is possible to define a constant trend of increase of the number of female court presidents. As the appointment in these positions is made following a competition where only judges can participate, the trend reflects the trend of the ratio between male judges and female judges in Romania.

Staff in charge of administrative tasks	1 666	15,0%
Technical staff	1 664	15,0%
Other	1 050	9,5%

In this cycle, the non-judge staff is broken down as follows:

The category “other” subsumes assistance magistrates, judicial assistants and probation counselors.

Assistance magistrates work only within the High Court of Cassation and Justice. They participate in the trial sessions, have a consultative vote in deliberations and write the minutes of the sessions, as well as the decisions.

Total	2 213		1 074	1 139	48,5%	51,5%

In this cycle, the total number of Female prosecutors (all instances) is 1 139, which represents 51,5% of the total number of prosecutors.

The total number of prosecutors is distributed among the different judicial instances in the following way: 1 089 in first instance (of which 556 are female); 668 are in second instance (of which 366 are female) and 456 in final instance (of which 217 are female).

Since there is a four-level court system in Romania, the prosecution office services reflect this organisation (first instance courts, tribunals, courts of appeal and the High Court of Cassation and Justice). Prosecutors from prosecution offices of the tribunals and of the courts of appeal are included in the category "second instance professional prosecutors".

As a result, the distribution of the number of public prosecutors among the different judicial instances diverges from the EU median. Indeed, the first instance public prosecutors are well below the EU median and the percentage of second instance public prosecutors might be considered close to the EU median, although slightly higher. Finally, the number of Supreme court prosecutors is significantly higher than the EU median.

As regards the distribution Male/Female, it has to be specified that female public prosecutors prevail in the first and second instances (51,1% and 54,8%, respectively) and represent 47,6% of public prosecutors in Supreme court.

2020	NA	NA	NA
2021	NA	NA	NA
2022	NA	NA	NA

There is no mechanism for calculating the compensation in Romania. The courts take into consideration the national case-law and the jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights in similar cases.

Even if the civil regulations of material and procedural law do not provide special mechanisms for the compensation of individuals in case of excessive duration of procedures and non-enforcement of judgments, there are norms guaranteeing the right to a fair trial and at case settlement within a reasonable time-limit. In such circumstances, there is a possibility to pay certain sums of money as fines or even as a compensation.

In criminal matters, the only possibility to obtain damages in case of procedural delays is the civil claim for damages, based on the provisions of the Civil Code. The Civil Procedure Code (the Law 134/2010) provides for a much more efficient mechanism to this effect, respectively the contestation concerning the protraction of the case settlement. Thus, according to Article 522 para. (1) of the CPC, any party, as well as the prosecutor attending the trial, may make contestation by which, invoking the infringement of the right to the settlement of the trial within an optimal and reasonable time-limit, he/she solicits the adoption of legal measures remedying to this situation.

The non-observance of judgments is incriminated as an offence by Art. 287 of the Criminal Code. Within the criminal trial, there may be also formulated the civil claim for damages for the non-enforcement of the judgment. The civil action may be also introduced separately, at the civil court. Both actions shall be judged according to the provisions of the Civil Code, regulating the delictual civil responsibility.

Illegal arrest and illegal conviction are situations circumscribed to judicial errors for which the Romanian state is responsible according to Art. 538-539 and the following of the Criminal Procedure Code (the Law 135/2010). For the appreciation in substance of the civil responsibility, common law rules laid down by the Civil Code apply. According to the provisions of the art. 538 of the Criminal Procedure Code, any person who suffered a wrongful condemnation or was, during a criminal trial, illegally deprived of his/her liberty is entitled to receive a compensation. The compensation should cover both the material and moral prejudices caused to that person. The amount of the compensation is to be determined by the court (the tribunal) in whose district the entitled person has its domicile. The entitled person should introduce a civil action against the state (which is represented by the Ministry of Public Finances), action which is exempted of any judicial fees.

Regarding the excessive duration of the criminal procedures, there is a remedy, but it is not compensatory (art. 488 (index1) and the following of the Criminal Procedure Code. Law no. 201/2023).

Article 359/1 was introduced in the Criminal Procedure Code (the Law 135/2010), stating the right to compensation for damage in the case of technical surveillance measures or activities specific to the collection of information illegally arranged (1). The person against whom he was ordered, confirmed, extended or illegally enforced a technical surveillance measure is entitled to compensation for the damage caused by this measure.

8. Systems for measuring and evaluating the performance of courts and public prosecution services in Romania (2022 data)

In Romania, quality standards are not determined for the judicial system at the national level.

However, informal standards are being used (such as training, quality of the reasoning, assessment of the activity of the judges, assessment of the good reputation of the judges etc.).

More precisely, the activity of courts is evaluated and monitored periodically, on the basis of certain statistical data/performance indicators. The evaluation is achieved by verifications carried out by inspectors of the Judicial Inspection of the SCM, by elaborating periodical reports. The schedule and thematic of those verifications are approved every year by the SCM.

At organizational level, there are no quality standards established for courts. It may be considered that such standards exist at individual level, for each judge, by the indicators for the evaluation of professional activity.

Systems for measuring and evaluating courts' performance

A regular monitoring system of court activities is in place concerning:

Number of incoming cases	✓	Satisfaction of users (regarding the services delivered by the courts)	✓
Length of proceedings (timeframes)	✓	Costs of the judicial procedures	✗
Number of resolved cases	✓	Number of appeals	✓
Number of pending cases	✓	Appeal ratio	✓
Backlogs	✓	Clearance rate	✓
Productivity of judges and court staff	✓	Disposition time	✓
Satisfaction of court staff	✓	Other	✓

Since 2012, the category “other” subsumes the length of administrative procedures, the number of final convictions, legal aid, suspended cases etc.

The regular monitoring of court activities is ensured through two applications: ECRIS - case management, and STATIS - statistics monitoring application including for court's efficiency assessment.
