

SELF-EVALUATION QUESTIONS MODULE 5

“HOW TO USE THE STRATEGY 21 WEBSITE”

EVALUATION QUESTIONS

I want to organise an activity to face a particular issue in my area. Where should I look on the Strategy 21 website to help me?

I am already organising an activity and would like to know where it fits into Strategy 21. Where should I look on the website to help me?

I want to know how Strategy 21 interacts with overarching themes, like citizen involvement and gender equality. Where can I find out more?

I want to learn about how to evaluate my activities within the context of Strategy 21. Where should I go on the website?

I want to find out more about where Strategy 21 came from and where it fits in the context of the Council of Europe’s work on cultural heritage. Where should I look on the website to find this?

REMARKS

The Challenges section of the website lists issues you may be facing and want to address, organised under the three components: societal challenges (S), territorial and economic development (D) and knowledge and education (K). Find the relevant challenge for you in the list to access the different associated recommendations, including courses of action to take and examples of good practices.

You should look at the recommendations, which are accessible from the Strategy 21 home page via the three components: the social component (S), territorial and economic development (D) and knowledge and education (K). On each of the recommendation pages you will find courses of action. Finding the one that aligns best with your activity allows you to focus on the relevant associated information for you.

You can find this out by going to Workshops and Factsheets - both in the Resources section on the right-hand side of the home page. These resources delve into the relationship of the Strategy to different themes, bringing together the contributions of experts in the heritage field.

You will find two factsheets dedicated to carrying out an evaluation in the context of the Strategy. Access them by going to Factsheets in the Resources section on the right-hand side of the home page.

You should take a look at the Reference Texts, which are accessible on the right-hand side of the Strategy 21 home page, where you will find the full text of Strategy 21, including the basis for its creation in the context of the needs of the heritage sector. You can find out more about the Council of Europe’s other work in the field of Culture and Cultural Heritage from the menu bar at the top of the screen, e.g. Culture >> Compendium or Cultural Heritage >> HEREIN.
