

PANEL 2 SPEAKERS

Mr Tim Eicke is the Judge of the European Court of Human Rights elected in respect of the United Kingdom. A dual-British/German national, he studied law at the Universities of Passau and Dundee. Before taking up his current appointment, he was a barrister at Essex Court Chambers and was appointed a Queen's Counsel in 2011. While in practice, he regularly argued cases in the UK Supreme Court, the Court of Justice of the European Union and the European Court of Human Rights and acted both for claimants and governments. In 2017, he received an Honorary doctorate from the University of Dundee. Since October 2020, he is Vice-President of Section IV of the Court. His expertise covers Human rights law, the law of the European Union, Public International Law as well as UK public and constitutional law.

Professor Giovanni Sartor is a part-time professor within the Faculty of Law at the University of Bologna and at the European University Institute in Florence. He is currently Principal Investigator for the ERC (European Research Council) Advanced project COMPULAW, started on 1 November 2019. He is part-time professor in Legal Informatics at the University of Bologna and part-time professor in Legal informatics and Legal Theory at the European University Institute. He obtained a Ph.D. at the EUI, researcher at the Italian National Council of Research (ITTIG, Florence), chair in Jurisprudence at Queen's University of Belfast, and was Marie-Curie professor at the EUI. He has been President of the International Association for Artificial Intelligence and Law. He has published widely on artificial intelligence and law, computational logic, legal theory/philosophy, and computer law.

Professor Masaki Fukuda joined Japan's Ministry of Posts and Telecommunications (reorganized into Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications [MIC] in 2001) in 1994, and served in policymaking, legislative and regulatory matters concerning information and communications. From 2015 to 2017, he served as the director of the Policy Research Department at MIC Institute for Information and Communications Policy. Since 2017, he has been a professor at Osaka University: from 2017 to 2020, he was a professor at the Graduate School of Law and Politics; from 2018 to 2020, he was the director of the Center for Legal and Political Practice; since 2020, he has been a professor and the director of the General Research Division at the Research Center on Ethical, Legal and Social Issues and a concurrent professor at the Graduate School of Law and Politics. He has also been a visiting professor at the University of Tokyo Interfaculty Initiative in Information Studies since 2019 and a senior visiting scientist at RIKEN Center for Advanced Intelligence Project since 2017. He obtained an LLB degree from Kyoto University in 1994 and a Ph.D. degree from the University of Tokyo in 2007. His research interests include law and policy concerning information and communications.

Mr Erik Wennerström was born in Sweden in 1962. He is a Doctor of Laws in International law, EU law and legal jurisprudence. He has been Director for International Relations and Eu affairs Ministry of justice and Head of International Law Enforcement Affairs at the Ministry of Justice and Interior (2007-2011) and Principal Legal Adviser on International Law at the Ministry for Foreign Affairs (2007-2012). From 2012 he has served as Director General at the National Council for Crime Prevention. Erik Wennerström has also served as board member in numerous international organisations. He was elected judge at the European Court of Human Rights in April 2019.

Mr Mattias Guyomar is a judge at the European Court of Human Rights, elected in respect of France since 22 June 2020. He was previously President of the 10th Chamber of the Administrative Jurisdiction Division of the French Council of State, which he joined in 1996 after graduating from the École nationale d'administration (ENA). Mattias Guyomar was an associate professor of public law at the University of Paris-Sud, Jean Monnet Faculty, and then at the University of Panthéon-Assas. He was also Secretary General of the French Institute of Administrative Sciences (IFSA) (2013-2020), Secretary General of the Commission des sondages (1998-2020), General Rapporteur of the Commission supérieure de codification (2012-2020).

Mr Alessandro Mantelero is an Associate Professor of Private Law and Law & Technology at the Polytechnic University of Turin. He is Council of Europe scientific expert on AI, data protection and human rights (Ad Hoc Committee on Artificial Intelligence – CAHAI, Convention 108 – Consultative Committee) and has served as an expert on data regulation for several national and international organizations, including the United Nations, the EU Agency for Fundamental Rights, and the European Commission.

He has held visiting appointments in several universities, including Berkman Klein Center for Internet & Society at Harvard University, and joined the University of Oxford as a visiting research fellow at the Oxford Internet Institute in 2013 and 2014, working on data protection and Big Data. He is Associate Editor of Computer Law & Security Review and member of the Editorial Board of European Data Protection Law Review.

Ms Peggy Valcke is Professor of law & technology at KU Leuven and vice dean for research at the Leuven Faculty of Law & Criminology. She is co-director of Centre for IT & IP Law, executive committee member of Leuven.AI, and principal investigator in the Security & Privacy Department of imec (previously iMinds). She taught at Tilburg University, Bocconi University, the European University Institute and Central European University. She is Vice-Chair of the Council of Europe's Ad hoc Committee on Artificial Intelligence (CAHAI).

Ms Mireille Hildebrandt is a Research Professor on 'Interfacing Law and Technology' at Vrije Universiteit Brussels (VUB), appointed by the VUB Research Council. She is co-Director of the Research Group on Law Science Technology and Society studies (LSTS) at the Faculty of Law and Criminology. She also holds the part-time Chair of Smart Environments, Data Protection and the Rule of Law at the Science Faculty, at the Institute for Computing and Information Sciences (iCIS) at Radboud University Nijmegen. Her research interests concern the implications of automated decisions, machine learning and mindless artificial agency for law and the rule of law in constitutional democracies. Hildebrandt has published 5 scientific monographs, 23 edited volumes or special issues, and over 100 chapters and articles in scientific journals and volumes. She received an ERC Advanced Grant for her project on 'Counting as a Human Being in the era of Computational Law' (2019-2024), that funds COHUBICOL. In that context she is co-founder of the international peer reviewed Journal of Cross-Disciplinary Research in Computational Law, together with Laurence Diver (co-Editors in Chief are Virginia Dignum and Frank Pasquale).