Ratification process from 2016 to 2021

Changes in law – broader heritage principles

- Valuing and preservation of cultural heritage is the common obligation of the society
- Upon the performance of their duties, the state and local governments shall consider cultural heritage as public value and cooperate with each other to support the preservation and keeping in use of cultural heritage
- The national activities targeted to monuments and heritage conservation areas pursuant to this Act shall be based on the principle of public interest as well as the balance and proportionality of everyone's rights and freedoms

Heritage is not just conservation, it's a conversation.

The right side of the slide features a decorative pattern of vertical stripes. Each stripe is composed of a series of light blue, downward-pointing chevrons or triangles, creating a textured, striped effect against the white background.
