If different from the Central Authority, the authority to which the request should be sent (name of the institution, address, telephone, fax and e-mail where available):
Channels of communication for the request for mutual legal assistance (directly, through diplomatic channels or other):	The UK does not require requests to come via diplomatic channels and central authorities are content to receive requests directly. However, the requesting authority will need to comply with its own domestic laws relating to the transmission of requests. Please see the MLA Guidelines for further information.
Means of communication (e.g. by post, fax, e-mail ¹):	Central authorities can receive letters of request by post, email or fax but these methods are not usually secure channels of transmission. The requesting authority will need to comply with its own domestic laws relating to the transmission of requests Please see the MLA Guidelines for further information.
Language requirements:	All requests to the UK must be in English Please see the MLA Guidelines for further information.
Double criminality requirement, if applicable:	In the UK dual criminality is required for coercive measures such as restraint and confiscation of assets and search and seizure. In Scotland, a search and seizure request will only be executed when the equivalent crime in Scotland is an offence punishable by imprisonment Please see the MLA Guidelines for further information.
Limitation of use of evidence obtained:	Evidence provided by the UK pursuant to a MLA request must only be used for the purpose specified in the request. Please see the MLA Guidelines for further information.
