AFP
AUSTRALIAN FEDERAL POLICE

IJM

- Identified as a facilitator in the Queensland Police's investigation against its own national, Turner.
- Records showed that "Rose" has a variety of customers from Australia, United States, and Germany, among others, for livestreaming of penetrative sexual activities by her minor victims.

All the MINOR VICTIMS are related to “Rose”

- Four (4) are her children
(3 daughters, 1 son)

- “Rose” charged rates between Ten US Dollars ($10) to Four Hundred Twenty Dollars ($420) depending on the severity of the abuse.
- Payments were received via money remittance centers.

WHERE DID COOPERATION STEP IN?

Search Warrant

Trial

Referral Loop

THE COURT RULED AGAINST "ROSE" AND SHE WAS PENALIZED WITH:

CONVICTED

- 20-year imprisonment sentence
- 1 million pesos in fine
- Php100,000 in moral damages
- Php100,000 in exemplary damages

AFTER CARE SERVICES FOR THE MINOR VICTIMS

BEST PRACTICES

1. Make Mutual Legal Assistance your last resort
2. Police-to-Police Cooperation
3. Close collaboration between the prosecutor and forensic examiner
4. Plea Bargaining Agreement

KEY CHALLENGES AND GAPS

1. Gaps in domestic legislation
2. Lack of cooperation from ISPs
3. Inefficiency of mutual legal assistance request procedures

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Harmonize national legislations
2. Establish your own Internet Crimes Against Children Center
3. Implement clear regulations for private sector companies

CONCLUSION

Cooperation is the key to fight online sexual exploitation of children.
