Addressing hate speech in the media:

the role of regulatory authorities and the judiciary

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

Organised by the Council of Europe in partnership with the Croatian Agency for Electronic Media 6-7 November 2018 Zagreb, Croatia Hotel Westin

www.coe.int/freedomofexpression/Zagreb2018

Information Society Group Facebook Page

HAIRMANSHIP OF CROATIA ouncil of Europe lay - November 2018 PRÉSIDENCE DE LA CROATIE onseil de l'Europe lat - November 2018

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

"Addressing hate speech in the media: the role of regulatory authorities and the judiciary"

Organised by the Council of Europe in partnership with the Croatian Agency for Electronic Media

Zagreb, Croatia, 6-7 November 2018

CONCEPT NOTE

Hate speech and other, less extreme forms of derogatory and offensive language targeting ethnic, religious, sexual and other minorities, migrants and refugees and many other groups and individuals, are a widespread phenomenon within Europe. The Council of Europe and its member states have over decades developed a comprehensive range of standards and measures to curb expression that spreads, incites, promotes or justifies hatred, intolerance, discrimination and hostility, while guaranteeing everyone the right to freedom of expression and information.

Mindful of the wide scope of this right, national authorities, guided by the European standards and the case-law of the European Court of Human Rights ("the Court"), restrict criminalisation to the most harmful speech and other expressions, fostering a society where different views and opinions can coexist, even when – in the words of the Court – they offend, shock or disturb. However, this tolerance is not without limits and should not be used as a pretext for stifling different views, professing hostility and excluding vulnerable and minority groups from public debate. Left unanswered, the spread of hateful discourse can undermine the roots of society and lead to deep divisions.

The emergence of digital technologies and social media has opened up new, multidirectional spaces for communication, thereby laying foundations for enhanced social interaction and diverse expression. Today, anyone can set up a website or communicate via social media, getting their message across to a potentially global audience. However, these technologies have also given the rhetoric of hate speech new powers to spread at an unprecedented speed and volume, and to find favourable recipients not only locally but across the globe.

The challenge of countering hate discourse is a multidimensional task and requires a complete package of differentiated but complementary strategies, involving a range of stakeholders and an array of measures: legal, political, educational, informational, cultural, etc. In addition to addressing hate speech, as a manifestation of hatred and intolerance, these measures must focus on underlying social structures and arrangements that normalise and perpetuate such attitudes.

Powerful forces in society have a significant influence on the tone and level of public debate, including how hate speech is spread, challenged and countered. In this context, the media have a particularly important role to play, given their potential for reaching the broadest audiences, shaping the political agenda and influencing public opinion. They can contribute to generating and disseminating hate discourse, or they can wield their voices and power to fight against it.

In an increasingly multicultural and transnational society, and especially in nationalistic environments where populist (political) forces widely use – as well as trivialise – hate speech, it is of great importance how such discourse is analysed, contextualised and evaluated by societal opinion-makers, first and foremost by the media. The partisan media may amplify hate messages, serving as propaganda tools for particular political and/or social agendas and polarising audiences. Responsible journalism, however, with its commitment to truth, fairness, accuracy, accountability and humanity, can act as a powerful informational, educational and awareness-raising platform, promoting the values of cultural diversity and tolerance.

While education and awareness-raising are both crucial elements in curbing hateful expression, there is also a need for a robust legal background and instruments to effectively prosecute hate speech and hate crimes. The extent of legislation and enforcement may differ across the countries; still legal sanctions constitute the ultimate tool for disempowering the users of hate speech and providing relief to their victims.

The international conference<sup>1</sup> will examine how hate speech is regulated in different member states of the Council of Europe, focusing on the specific roles of the judiciary, national media regulatory authorities and media self-regulatory bodies. It will further explore how media literacy programmes can raise awareness about hate speech and the risks it poses for democracy, empowering citizens to critically analyse news and information and develop counter-speech and alternative narratives.

This conference aims to promote and encourage the implementation of the norms and standards pertaining to hate speech through the exchange of experiences, innovative approaches and valuable national practices. In various sessions, the participants will be able to share their work and ideas on the scope of hate speech in their specific national contexts and culture, and on different strategies employed to counter this phenomenon.

The Council of Europe is actively supporting cooperative efforts of national authorities via many regional events and activities. One of the recent results is the publication "Media Regulatory Authorities and Hate speech" (2017), which was prepared by the representatives of the national regulatory authorities of South East Europe in the framework of the Council of Europe and the European Union joint programme "Reinforcing Judicial Expertise on Freedom of Expression and the Media in South-East Europe (JUFREX)". This publication contains information about relevant cases dealt with by these authorities and offers a starting point for the discussion on how to combat hate speech in the media.

&lt;sup>1</sup> Croatia, Slovenia, Hungary, Poland, Slovakia, Czech Republic, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Montenegro, Moldova, Serbia, "the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia", Ukraine, Georgia and Kosovo (This designation is without prejudice to positions on status, and is in line with UNSCR 1244 and the ICJ Opinion on the Kosovo Declaration of Independence).

PROGRAMME

Venue: Westin Hotel, 17th floor, Panorama room

6 th November 2018
8.00 - 8.45	Registration and meeting organisers and participants
09.00 - 09.20	Welcome addresses
	Nina Obuljen Koržinek, Minister of Culture of Croatia
	<ul> <li>Mario Horvatić, Assistant Minister, Ministry of Foreign and European Affairs of Croatia</li> </ul>
	<ul> <li>Patrick Penninckx, Head of Information Society Department, Council of Europe</li> </ul>
	Moderator: Robert Tomljenović , Vice-President of the Croatian Electronic Media Council, Croatian Agency for Electronic Media
09.20 – 9.45	Hate speech - the concept and the legal framework according to the European standards on combating hate speech and promoting a culture of tolerance
	Article 10 of the European Convention on Human Rights, other Council of Europe instruments, the balancing act between freedom of expression and hate speech.
	<ul> <li>Sejal Parmar, Assistant Professor, Department of Legal Studies, Central European University</li> </ul>
9.45 – 10.10	Hate speech in the media – taking stock of national approaches
	What kind of protection from hate speech is afforded in the national legislations? What constitutes the notion of hate speech in member states and where is the line drawn between "prohibited" and "allowed"? What other strategies and initiatives are used to combat hate speech in the media?
	<ul> <li>Tanja Kerševan Smokvina, Associate Partner at Wagner-Hatfield and Visiting Lecturer at University of Maribor</li> </ul>

10:10 – 10.40 Joint picture and networking

10.40 – 11.10 FLASH SESSION I: Hate speech in social media

Roles and responsibilities of social media and other internet intermediaries in combatting hate speech on their platforms and promoting responsible journalistic reporting, content moderation and removal in line with international and national standards of freedom of expression

• Gabriella Cseh, Director of Policy for Russia and CEE, Facebook

11.10 - 12.40Panel discussion 1Hate speech - the role of the national regulatory ## authorities (NRAs) in the digital environment

Dilemmas and challenges for NRAs: effective implementation of national and European standards on hate speech in the digital environment, powers and competences of NRAs, negotiating specific national contexts in combatting hate speech.

Moderator: Stanislav Bender, Head of Monitoring Department, Croatian Agency for Electronic Media

• Asja Rokša-Zubčević, Head of Division of Audiovisual services and international cooperation in broadcasting, Communications Regulatory Agency of Bosnia-Herzegovina

Presentation of the results of the Study "Media regulatory Authorities and Hate speech" (JP "Reinforcing Judicial Expertise on Freedom of Expression and the Media in South-East Europe (JUFREX)")

- Rosa Cavallaro, Audiovisual Content Directorate, Media Regulatory Agency, Italy
- Elfa Ýr Gylfadóttir, Media Commission, Icelandic Ministry of Education and Science, vice-chair of CDMSI
- Bissera Zankova, lawyer, former member of the Bulgarian media and ethics commission
- Adam Baxter, Principal in Ofcom's Standards and Audience and Protection Team, United Kingdom

	12.40 - 14.10	Lunch
--	---------------	-------	--	--	--

14.10 – 14.55 Panel discussion 2: first session

Moderator: Pavlo Pushkar, Head of Division – Department for the execution of ECtHR judgments, Council of Europe

European Court of Human Rights approach to hate speech

The notion and content of hate speech in the case law of the European Court of Human Rights, exclusion of hate speech from protection of the European Convention on Human Rights, recent developments in light of the digitisation of media and communication

- Kirill Belogubets, lawyer at the European Court of Human Rights
- Khagani Guliyev, lawyer at the European Court of Human Rights

14.55 – 16.15	Panel discussion 2: second session
	Hate speech – the role of the national judiciary
	Dilemmas and challenges for national judiciary authorities: defining hate speech, striking the right balance between freedom of expression and hate speech; implementing the standards resulting from the case-law of the European Court of Human Rights; judicial procedure challenging the decisions of the NRAs; emerging issues brought by the digital (r)evolution.
	Alexandru Tanase, Member of the Venice Commission, former     President of Moldovan Constitutional Court
	<ul> <li>Tomas Åberg, project leader at Näthatsgranskaren (social media hate crime examiner), disclosure and reporting of hate speech on social media, in cooperation with the Swedish police</li> </ul>
	• Eva Steinberger, judge, Germany
	Ivan Glavić, State Prosecution Office, Croatia
16.15 – 16.30	Break
16.30 – 17.50	Panel discussion 3
	The role of the media self-regulatory mechanisms
	Dilemmas, challenges and opportunities for media self-regulatory mechanisms: effective implementation of editorial standards and professional ethics, codes of conduct, complaints mechanisms, cooperation with relevant stakeholders

Moderator: Alf Bjarne Johnsen, Head of Norwegian Press Complaints Commission, Senior Political Reporter at Verdens Gang Media House

- Daphne Koene, secretary Netherlands Press Council The Netherlands
- Ljiljana Zurovac, Program Director, Press Council of Bosnia-Herzegovina
- Menno Ettema, Programme Manager, No Hate Speech and Cooperation Unit, Anti-Discrimination Department, Council of Europe
- Mikko Salo, Faktabaari, member of the independent EU High-Level Expert Group on Fake News, Finland
- Marius Lukošiūnas, Programme specialist, Division of Freedom of Expression and Media Development, UNESCO

18.45 – 20.45Cocktail reception hosted by the Croatian Agency for ElectronicMedia and the Embassies of Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden– Westin Hotel, 17th floor, Panorama room

7th November 2018

9:00 – 9:30 FLASH SESSION II: Framing the public debate on migration and refugees

How to avoid divisive narratives and the rhetoric of hate; humanistic reporting and making refugees' and migrants' voices heard, the role of the media in engaging positively with the public attitudes towards migrants and refugees.

 Tomáš Boček, Special Representative of the Secretary General on migration and refugees, Council of Europe

9:30 – 11:00 Panel discussion 4

Media literacy, a necessary tool in the fight against hate speech

How NRAs, self-regulatory bodies and other relevant stakeholders can promote media literacy to build critical thinking and enable media and their users to effectively respond to the rhetoric of hate? What can we learn from national experiences?

Moderator: Martina Chapman, Director of Mercury Insights Limited, Ireland, member of MSI-JOQ

- Kristine Meek, Norwegian Media Authority
- Saara Salomaa, National Audiovisual Institute, Finland (KAVI)
- Lana Ciboci, Vice president of Association for Communication and Media Culture, Croatia
- Gitte Stald, IT University of Copenhagen, Denmark

11.00 – 11.15 Break

11.15 – 12.00 How to ensure an effective framework for preventing hate speech through cooperation?

Continued cooperation of all relevant institutional bodies, improved crossborder cooperation in cases with cross-border impact, transparency and inclusiveness in the work of NRAs, the judiciary and self-regulatory bodies.

- Tanja Kerševan Smokvina, Associate Partner at Wagner-Hatfield and Visiting Lecturer at University of Maribor
- Lejla Dervišagić, Council of Europe expert

12.00 – 12.20 Closing remarks

- Patrick Penninckx, Head of Information Society Department, Council of Europe
- Robert Tomljenović, Vice-President of the Croatian Electronic Media Council

	12.20 - 13.00	Networking session
--	---------------	--------------------	--

SPEAKERS' PROFILES

Sejal PARMAR is Assistant Professor of Law at the Department of Legal Studies and a core faculty member of the Center for Media, Data and Society (CMDS) at the School of Public Policy at CEU. Her main field of expertise and research is international and European human rights law, particularly on freedom of expression. Parmar previously served as Senior Adviser to the Organisation for Security and Co-operation in Europe (OSCE) Representative on Freedom of the Media and Senior Legal Officer at ARTICLE 19, the leading international human rights NGO on freedom of expression. She continues to act as an expert for intergovernmental organisations and as a consultant for NGOs.

Patrick PENNINCKX is currently heading the Information Society Department under the Directorate General Human Rights and the Rule of Law, Patrick coordinates standard setting and cooperation activities in the fields of media, internet governance, data protection and cybercrime. His professional focus encompasses areas such as freedom of expression, safety of journalists, human rights on the internet and sound internet governance, international standards in the data protection and cybercrime fields and their implementation. An outspoken public speaker promoting the Council of Europe values and achievements, he holds Political Science and Educational degrees from the University of Leuven. Previously, Patrick was in charge of Human Resources policy development, transforming the administrative management of personnel into a competency based human resource policy. He also led the Pompidou Group of the Council of Europe through major changes in membership profile, implementing flexible working methods and innovative human and financial resources management.

Before starting her independent career as an international adviser and lately joining a Brussels based consultancy, Tanja KERŠEVAN SMOKVINA spent most of her career at Slovenian media and communications regulatory authorities and participated in the work of EPRA and ERGA. Tanja has served two mandates at the Council of Europe CDMSI sub-committees, in 2016-2017 as Member of the Committee of Experts on Internet Intermediaries (MSI-NET) and in 2018-2019 as Member of the Committee of Experts on Artificial Intelligence (MSI-AUT). She holds a PhD in Communication Science from University of Ljubljana and teaches media related subjects at University of Maribor.

Gabriella CSEH is the Head of Public Policy for Russia and Central and Eastern Europe for Facebook; a lawyer. Currently, Gabriella focuses on issues related to data protection, privacy, human rights and Internet, freedom of speech and hate speech related issues, digital market, internet safety, the open Internet, and more broadly the social value generated by Internet-related services. Prior to joining Facebook, she was the executive director of Hungarian Public Service Radio for four years and the external relations director for PanTel telecommunications Ltd for seven years. Gabriella has also served as a diplomat and a civil servant.

Stanislav BENDER is Head of Monitoring Department in Agency for Electronic Media of the Republic of Croatia. Monitoring department supports the Electronic Media Council to fulfill his role and undertakes other statutory functions such as handling complaints, supervision of private and public broadcasters, conducting analysis and research, resolving market competition and other issues in the media industry. From 2007 onward he is Lecturer of New Media in the Department of Journalism at University of Applied Sciences - Vern. His research focuses on the uses, cultures and politics of digital media technologies, as well as online journalism, social media, media literacy, visual culture, popular culture, media law and public policy. He is also the Council of Europe expert, involved as an editor and author in the preparation of publication "Media regulatory authorities and hate speech". Prior to position in Agency for Electronic Media, he has worked successfully with a range of industry, government and not-profit organisations to address the practical challenges and opportunities posed by digital media.

Asja ROKŠA-ZUBČEVIĆ has worked at the Communications Regulatory Agency of Bosnia and Herzegovina for a number of years, dealing with all aspects of regulatory issues for audiovisual media sector. She was involved in the defense of freedom of expression case before the human rights court. She also performed as a judge at the Monroe E. Price Media Law Moot Court, annual South East Europe Rounds organized by University of Belgrade, in cooperation with the Oxford University, as part of the Programme in Comparative Media Law and Policy. She is the Council of Europe expert, involved in preparation of studies and research documents, including co-authoring publication "Media regulatory authorities and hate speech". Her article is also published in the book under the title: "Business and Government in the information society – The communication of digital video broadcasting policy in South East Europe", London 2015. She regularly contributes to preparation of documents, studies and panels of European Platform of Regulatory Authorities (EPRA). She holds M.A. in human rights and democracy (University of Bologna and University of Sarajevo), and a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Illinois at Chicago, USA.

Rosa CAVALLARO began to work for Italian Regulatory Authority for communication sector in the 2000. She is an officer of Audiovisual Content Directorate. She is an expert in monitoring political and social pluralism in radio and television programs; her job is also related to the verification of compliance with the laws on the protection of minors and on the fundamental rights of the person by broadcasters. She participated in the working group for the drafting of two editions (2014 and 2017) of a "White Paper on the relationship between the media and children. Currently she is also following the works of the "Technical Table for Ensuring Pluralism and Correct information on Digital Platforms", established by Italian Authority to promote self-regulation of platforms and the exchange of best practices for the use of digital platforms. She is also participating as a drafter in the working group for writing the "Agcom White Paper on the digital contents" and in the working group of Erga (European Regulators Group for Audiovisual Media Services) "Subgroup SG 1 - Internal and External Plurality". Furthermore she is following for Agcom, as observer, the meetings of "Committee of experts on quality journalism in the digital age (MSI-JOQ)" - Council of Europe, Strasbourg (2018-2019). In the past she also worked as a journalist and author of television programs.

Elfa Ýr GYLFADÓTTIR is the Director of the Media Commission, the independent regulator for media in Iceland. Prior to that she was the Head of Division of Media at the Ministry of Education, Science and Culture. Ms. Gylfadóttir was one of the main authors of the Act on the National Broadcasting Service No. 23/2013 and the Icelandic Media Law No. 38/2011, transposing the AVMS Directive. Ms. Gylfadóttir has been a lecturer at the University of Iceland for 15 years. She is the author and co-author of several peer reviewed articles on media policy and media law. Ms. Gylfadóttir is the Vice-Chair of the Steering Committee on Media and Information Society (CDMSI) at the Council of Europe. She was the Chair of the CDMSI in 2016-2017.

Bissera ZANKOVA has studied law and has specialized in editing and publishing at the Sofia University "St.Kliment Ohridsky", Bulgaria. She holds a Master (1999) and a Doctorate (2005) of Comparative Constitutional Law from the Central European University, Budapest. For many years Ms. Zankova has been a Council of Europe expert in the field of freedom of expression and media, a member of CDMSI and its Bureau. She has taken part in the Council of Europe missions in various European countries. Currently she is independent researcher and consultant as president of "Media 21" Foundation registered in Bulgaria. The foundation pursues projects and partnerships in new media and journalism. Mrs. Zankova has been also a member of the Bulgarian Commission on Media Ethics during 2015 - 2017. She is particularly interested in media policy and media regulation and self-regulation.

Adam BAXTER is a Principal in Ofcom's Standards and Audience and Protection Team, helping to lead regulation of broadcast and on-demand content standards in the areas of protection of minors, harm and offence, incitement, due impartiality and elections/referendums. He has particular responsibility for overseeing issues relating to due impartiality and elections/referendums and has extensive experience in taking enforcement action against broadcasters in the area of hate speech and incitement. Prior to joining Ofcom in 2008, Adam has had a range of policy and related roles across the media and entertainment industry. He has Masters degrees from both Cambridge University and the University of Oxford. Whilst at Oxford he completed a thesis looking at the role of television in UK General Elections.

Pavlo PUSHKAR is a head of division at the Department for the Execution of Judgments of the European Court of Human Rights of the Directorate General of Human Rights and the Rule of Law of the Council of Europe. He is an expert of the Council of Europe on notably freedom of expression and journalists' safety, media, sports conventions, migration and internal displacement, procedural law, mediation and arbitration, etc. He has worked at the Registry of the European Court of Human Rights from 2002 to 2016 as a senior lawyer and a non-judicial rapporteur. Before joining the Council of Europe, he worked as an advocate in the areas of international litigation and arbitration and as a public servant at the Supreme Court of Ukraine. Mr Pushkar has a PhD in criminal justice. He is a graduate of Kyiv Taras Shevchenko University Law Faculty (BA and MA in Laws, with honours); the Nottingham University School of Law (LLM in International Law); Queens Mary College University of London (International Arbitration). He is currently pursuing his research in the area of international law compliance with the Max Planck Institute of European Procedural Law in Luxembourg.

Kirill BELOGUBETS, Magister Juris in European and comparative law, Oxford University; case-lawyer at the Registry of the European Court of Human Rights since 2004, non-judicial rapporteur at the Registry of the Court for applications in respect of Russia in 2014.

Khagani GULIYEV has worked as a lawyer at the Registry of the European Court of Human Rights since 2007. He also holds a Ph.D in public international law from the University of Strasbourg and has worked as a lecturer in constitutional law at the same university since 2013.

Alexandru TANASE is Partner Lawyer at "Hanganu, Tănase and Partners" Law Firm, Chișinău, Moldova. He is also a Member European Commission for Democracy through Law (Venice Commission) of the Council of Europe and Lecturer in constitutional law at Moldova State University, Chișinău. He has previously served as the President of the Moldovan Constitutional Court and the Minister of Justice.

Tomas ÅBERG has worked as a police officer for 9 years, mostly as an investigator. Both before and after his police career he was living in East Africa working with security for company's but also with wildlife management. He is currently affiliated with Näthatsgranskaren, a social media hate crime examiner. He has experience in searching for and identification of criminal hate speech according to the Swedish law, collecting evidence and ID and reporting to the police.

Eva STEINBERGER has studied law at the University of Passau, Germany and the University of Edinburgh, Great Britain from 1998 until 2005. From 2005 until 2008 she successfully completed her legal traineeship in Bavaria, Germany, which included working at the civil court, the prosecutor's office, the district administration, a law firm and at the European Commission for Competition in Brussels. After her final legal exams in 2008 she joined the Bavarian Ministry of Economics, Infrastructure, Traffic and Technology as a civil servant and worked as a legal advisor in the area of land planning law. In 2010 she became a Bavarian magistrate. Since then she has held different positions as a prosecutor and as a judge for civil law and for criminal law at the district court level and the regional court level. From 2013 to 2014 Eva Steinberger was seconded to the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg, where she worked as a legal assistant for the German division of the Court's registry. Currently Eva Steinberger works as a judge for criminal law at the Regional Court of Munich I.

Ivan GLAVIĆ, Ph.D., graduated from the Faculty of Law in Zagreb in 2001, where obtained a Master of Laws in 2008 and defended doctoral dissertation in 2011. Elected to the scientific title Research Associate, National Council on Science and Technology, in 2013. Since 2007 have held the position of deputy state attorney; currently works as a deputy state attorney at the County State Attorney's Office in Zagreb. Since 2009 have been professional teaching assistant at the Faculty of Law in Zagreb, Department of Criminal Law. Have been trainer at the Judicial Academy of Croatia, have held presentations at several national and international conferences on criminal law issues. In 2018 appointed as a Head of Delegation of the Republic of Croatia to the Cybercrime Convention Committee (T-CY).

Alf Bjarne JOHNSEN has chaired the Norwegian press complaints Commission in the Norwegian self-regulated Press Council, Pressens Faglige Utvalg, since 2014. He has more than 40 years' experience in journalism. Mr Johnsen is currently a Senior political reporter at Oslobased Verdens Gang (VG) Media House, covering the executive and legislative bodies in Norway, and doing in-depth reporting on domestic and international security policy.

Daphne KOENE is the secretary of the Netherlands Press Council (Raad voor de Journalistiek) since 2001. After studying law at the University of Amsterdam – with specialisms Intellectual Property Law, Media Law and Information Law – she was a lawyer at the Intellectual Property Law department of the law firm Ekelmans Den Hollander in Amsterdam. In 1996 she continued her career at the Netherlands Union of Journalists (Nederlandse Vereniging van Journalisten) with specialisms Labour Law, Social Security Law and Copyright Law. In addition she was part time assisting secretary of the Press Council since 1999. She has been a speaker at various national and international conferences. Further she carried out a comparative research among several European countries – the Netherlands, Belgium, Great Britain, Germany, Denmark and Sweden – and is the author of the report "Press Councils in Western Europe".

Ljiljana ZUROVAC, the Program Director of the Press Council in Bosnia and Herzegovina, holds a bachelor degree in Dramaturgy and Theatrology, and a bachelor degree in Comparative Literature. Apart from her journalistic career, she also works as a theatre play-writer and a TV screenwriter. She is also a lecturer and regularly teaches in the fields of Media Ethics and Self-regulation, Media Literacy, Conflict Resolution, Radio journalism, and Communications. She worked in Mongolia, Myanmar, Serbia, Montenegro, Albania, Macedonia, Moldova, Georgia, and Hungary, and she regularly participates in the local and international conferences as a panellist. Within the Press Council, she established educational programs for media ethics in the Media Ethics School for students of journalism. Also, she created a special range of Media Literacy workshop-programs. She is the founder and producer of the radio show named "Your Voice in Media – ZOOM". Prior to her current position in The Press Council in B&H, Ms Zurovac worked in the period from 1980 until 2009 as an active Radio and TV journalist, and as an editor and host of live Radio and TV programs at JRT – RTV Sarajevo, PBS B&H, and Radio FERN. She was a Member of the UNESCO/Guillermo Cano World Press Freedom Price Jury and a President of this Jury in 2016. She is a member of IFJ and BHN Journalists' Association; Member of Article 10 ECHR Task Group of the European University Viadrina Frankfurt/Oder; Member of AIPCE – Alliance of Independent Press Councils in Europe.

Menno ETTEMA is No Hate Speech and Cooperation Programmes Manager at the Anti-Discrimination Department of the Council of Europe. In his function he brings together the organisations work on combatting hate through standards setting, monitoring and capacity building programme in cooperation with European partners and member states. Mr Ettema has previously worked as the European coordinator of the No Hate Speech Movement, a youth campaign of the Council of Europe to mobilise young people for human rights and against hate speech online (2016-17) and as an educational advisor (2010-2015) for the Youth Department of the Council of Europe. Before that he worked with youth peace organisations in the Middle East and coordinated the international secretariat of the United Network of Youth Peacebuilders. Mr Ettema studied Psychology of Culture and Religion at the University of Nijmegen, the Netherlands.

Mikko SALO is Faktabaari (FactBar) Founder, Finnish transparency NGO chair and LUT University EU Advisor. In 2014 he founded the fact-checking service bringing accuracy to European election debate. Since he has worked with (journalism) schools, media educators, scientists and voluntary crowds for a pedagogical, secure and engaging online fact-checking and debate focused new media concepts. Mikko is a member of the EU's High-Level Expert Group on Fake News and online disinformation whose report "Multi-dimensional approach to online disinformation" triggered also the first online platform code of practice on disinformation. His current fact-checking and digital media literacy efforts link to forthcoming European elections and ways to tackle "information disorders" such as 1) building FactBar EDU to empower educators in voter literacy, while involved in 2) promising European factchecking efforts like #Femfacts -project debunking damaging misrepresentations of women in European news media and 3) several technology solutions. He has a versatile experience on European Affairs in member state and EU-level having served also four EU institutions. He has an interdisciplinary educational background majoring in political sciences. www.linkedin.com/in/mvsalo

Since 2005 Marius LUKOŠIŪNAS works for UNESCO. He worked as an Advisor for Communication and Information Program at UNESCO Moscow (2005-2010) and Cairo offices (2010-2014). As of mid-2014 Marius Lukošiūnas works for the Division of Freedom of Expression and Media Development at the Organization's headquarters in Paris. Before joining UNESCO Marius Lukošiūnas served as the Head of the Press Service and Advisor to the President of the Republic of Lithuania in 2004-2005. In 1997 & 2000-2004 he worked as media and political affairs officer in two peacekeeping missions – the OSCE Mission in Bosnia & Herzegovina and the UN Mission in Kosovo. In between the two peacekeeping jobs in the Balkans Marius Lukošiūnas for three years (1997-2000) managed EU enlargement related media projects at the European Journalism Center based in Maastricht, the Netherlands.

He also occupied a position of the Director of the Institute of Journalism of Vilnius University in 1992-1997 and holds PhD from Moscow State University (1990). Marius Lukošiūnas started his career of a journalist in Lithuanian TV in 1987, reported from few hot spots during the break up on the Soviet Union in the early nineties, and moderated first presidential debates during the first Lithuanian presidential elections of 1992.

In January 2016, Ambassador Tomáš BOČEK was appointed Special Representative on Migration and Refugees of Council of Europe Secretary General Thorbjørn Jagland. His mandate is to gather information on the situation of migrants and refugees in the member States, and to develop proposals for action at national and European level. He also liaises with international partners, in particular the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, the European Union, the International Organisation for Migration and UNICEF. One of his priorities is to improve the situation of the high number of refugee and migrant children in Europe. He is responsible for the implementation of the Council of Europe's Action plan to this effect. He has also undertaken fact-finding missions to hotspots, camps and detention centres in several member States. A lawyer by training and a career diplomat, Tomáš Boček studied at the University of Pilsen and has a degree in public international law from Paris I University – Panthéon Sorbonne. From 2004 to 2008, he was the Agent of the Czech Republic before the European Court of Justice and the Court of First Instance in Luxembourg. In 2007 and 2008, he was also Adviser to the Deputy Prime Minister for European Affairs and, from 2008 to 2009, Deputy Minister for International Relations and European Affairs at the Ministry of Justice of the Czech Republic. From 2010 until the end of January 2016, he was Ambassador and Permanent Representative of the Czech Republic to the Council of Europe and from 2013 to 2015 also Vice-Chair of the Governing Board of the Council of Europe Development Bank.

Martina CHAPMAN is an independent consultant specialising in the areas of digital media literacy. Originally from a broadcasting background, Martina has worked in media strategy and policy since 2008. Since establishing Mercury Insights in 2013, Martina has provided advice and support relating to media literacy policy, strategy, research and projects to a wide range international organisations and media regulators, including the Broadcasting Authority of Ireland, the Georgian National Communications Commission, the Council of Europe, the European Audiovisual Observatory, the European Platform of Regulatory Authorities, Ofcom, the UK communications regulator, The Eurovision Academy, the OSCE and the Irish Film Institute. Martina currently acts as national coordinator for Media Literacy Ireland and is a member of the Council of Europe Committee of Experts on quality journalism in the digital age (MSI-JOQ). Prior to setting up her own business, she was the BBC's Editor for Media Literacy and she previously held the staff position of Media Literacy Policy Executive for Ofcom. Martina holds an MA in Film and Television Management and Policy. She has been member of a range of media-literacy related steering groups and working groups and she is a regular contributor to national and international conferences and seminars.

Kristine MEEK of the Norwegian Media Authority is responsible for the authority's insight and communications activities within the areas of media pluralism, media literacy, media ownership and media economy - as well as the EU safer internet program with special focus on social media and gaming. Meek is a sociologist and former journalist, who has a long track record from the media and the communications industry. Before joining the NMA she was head of communication in Telenor Norge, Norway's biggest telecom operator.

Saara SALOMAA (M.A.) is a senior advisor and media education team leader in KAVI, a Finnish governmental agency with a legal obligation to promote media literacy. Media education in Finnish National Audiovisual Institute, KAVI includes expert consulting, networking and strategic planning, lecturing for professionals, research and producing educational resources. KAVI also coordinates two significant awareness campaigns, Media Literacy Week and Game Week, and serves as the Finnish Safer Internet Centre.

Lana CIBOCI, PhD, is a vice dean for scientific affairs and quality management at Edward Bernays University College. She holds lectures at the Faculty of Teacher Education (University of Zagreb), Centre for Croatian Studies (University of Zagreb) and Edward Bernays University College. She is a vice president of the Association for Communication and Media Culture within which the Children of the Media project was implemented. The project won the Special Jury Prize as part of the Evens Foundation's 2017 Media Literacy Prize. She is a member of Croatian team of EU Kids Online. Lana is one of the authors of the first public opinion study on media literacy in Croatia and editor-in-chief of the scientific journal Communication Management Review. She is the author of several scientific papers about children and the media with an emphasis on media literacy. Scientific interests: children and media, media literacy, media and violence.

Gitte BANG STALD is an Associate Professor, ph.d. and head of network at the University of Copenhagen. Her primary research areas are digital media, democracy, citizenship, and participation; mobile media and social change; digital youth media cultures; digital media and globalisation. She participated in the European comparative project Children and Their Changing Media Environment 1995-1998; in the research programme Global Media Cultures 1999-2001; in research and development projects on mobile content for young Danes 2004-6; on mobile solutions for dyslexics 2006-7; in The MacArthur Foundation's series on Youth, Digital Media and Learning; in the project Mobity on user driven mobile media communities 2008-9. She participates in the two European networks/projects EU Kids Online 2006-2014 and in Net Children Go Mobile 2012-2014. She has published articles on subjects such as media and cultural globalisation, adolescents' digital media cultures, and mobile media and communication. She is co-editor of Global Encounters: Media and Cultural Transformation (2002) and of Digital Aesthetics and Communication, Northern Lights vol 5, 2007. From 1994 to 2007 she worked at Film & Media Studies, Institute for Media, Cognition and Communication at the University of Copenhagen.

From 2001 until September 2018, Lejla DERVIŠAGIĆ worked at the Council of Europe, in Media and Internet Division. She was responsible for the cooperation programmes and activities related to freedom of expression and freedom of the media in Council of Europe member States. From October 2018 she works as an independent consultant.

Robert TOMLJENOVIĆ is the Vice President of the Electronic Media Council and Deputy Director of the Agency for Electronic Media, an independent regulatory body for the electronic media in the Republic of Croatia. Among other things, he is responsible for projects related to the protection of minors in electronic media and media literacy (eg. www.medijskapismenost.hr, Media Literacy Days...). Before joining the Agency (2013.), he spent his entire professional career in the electronic media and the audiovisual industry, working as a journalist, editor and television producer. Among other things, he worked as a reporter and news editor for Radio 101, acted as the editor in chief of the news program at Family Radio, and spent eight years as the Zagreb-based correspondent for the BBC World Service. He was also one of the founders and editor of the award-winning daily news show News of the day on CCN (a network of local TV stations), and the first Head of the news of RTL Televizija, where he set up the whole system and developed the concept of the news programme. He also worked as a television producer, producing documentaries and drama series.

Hate speech and other, less extreme forms of derogatory and offensive language targeting ethnic, religious, sexual and other minorities, migrants and refugees and many other groups and individuals, are a widespread phenomenon within Europe. The Council of Europe and its member states have over decades developed a comprehensive range of standards and measures to curb expression that spreads, incites, promotes or justifies hatred, intolerance, discrimination and hostility, while guaranteeing everyone the right to freedom of expression and information.

The international conference examines how hate speech is regulated in different member states of the Council of Europe, focusing on the specific roles of the judiciary, national media regulatory authorities and media self-regulatory bodies. It further explores how media literacy programmes can raise awareness about hate speech and the risks it poses for democracy, empowering citizens to critically analyse news and information and develop counter-speech and alternative narratives.

The Agency for Electronic Media (AEM) is an independent regulatory body for electronic media in Croatia. It grants concessions, issues licences, monitors the operations and programme contents and programme quotas of electronic media as prescribed by law, especially with a view to the protection of human rights as well as the rights of minors and consumers. The AEM passes secondary legislation acts, manages the Fund for the Promotion of Pluralism and Diversity of Electronic Media and organizes, inter alia, projects and campaigns related to media literacy and gender equality. The Council of Europe is the continent's leading human rights organisation. It comprises 47 member states, 28 of which are members of the European Union. All Council of Europe member states have signed up to the European Convention on Human Rights, a treaty designed to protect human rights, democracy and the rule of law. The European Court of Human Rights oversees the implementation of the Convention in the member states.

